Budget Draft Asks Five More Police

COUNCIL O. K. ON PAY BOOST ALSO SOUGHT

Administration Would Enlarge Police Force, Give Officers $25 Wage Increase.

MORE FUNDS FOR FIREMEN

Proposed Appropriations Set Up Salary Hikes For City Fire Fighters.

Council approval of an enlarged police department and substantial wage increases for both that department and the fire department was requested today in the city's tentative budget of operating funds for 1942.

Requests for added funds for the police and fire departments represented the largest increases requested in the budget which calls for appropriations $72,000 higher than the $342,520 allowed in the 1941 appropriation bill. Appropriations requested for 1942 total $413,796.

The proposed budget makes provision for employing five more policemen and a wage increase of $25 per month for each of the present 29 members in the department. If allowed, the police department expansion would cost the city $18,318 more than the department's budget of $61,032 which it has to operate on this year.

In the fire department, last year's appropriation of $68,295 would be raised $12,960 to provide for the promotion of two firemen to second class and for contemplated salary increases for the other members of the department. There is no specific amount mentioned in the budget for individual increases.

The finance committee of council must meet soon to consider the budget as council must approve it before July 15. Fred Miller, chairman, said yesterday the committee had not met as yet and that council would not discuss the budget tonight at its July meeting.

The budget proposes increased appropriations in 16 departments and minor cuts in four. Fire pensions would increase from $10,150 to $18,823 while police pensions would drop from $12,000 to $11,990.

Improvement of the fire and police telephone and telegraph system would call for an increase

WHAT'S THIS?

House Group Recommends Federal Automobile Tax.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— If the house ways and means committee has its way, every privately owned automobile in the United States will be wearing a $5 federal tax sticker to help raise the desired $3,500,000,000 of new revenue to finance the defense program.

The committee recommended this new annual levy late yesterday along with other excise taxes designed to produce about $733,000,000 of the additional revenue and Chairman Doughton (D-NC) suggested that "sticker" receipts for the auto tax might be sold through postoffices.

Another committee recommendation likely to affect a broad section of the population was that a five per cent tax be imposed on all passenger transportation fares over 35 cents, whether by rail, water, air or bus.

TOLL RISES

Pennsylvania Mine Explosion Claims Seventh Life.

INDIANA, Pa.—(U.P.)—The death toll of a dust explosion which blasted the McIntyre mine of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Co., rose to seven today as officials opened an inquiry to determine cause of the accident.

John Chorzak, 21, of Iselin, Pa., succumbed to burns in Indiana hospital nearly 24 hours after he had been brought from the depths of the mine where six of his fellow workers were killed by the blast or the subsequent lack of oxygen.

HEAR EVIDENCE AGAINST SPIES

Federal Grand Jury Studies Espionage Plot as Three More Are Arrested.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—With the number of alleged foreign spies under arrest increased to 32, a federal grand jury in Brooklyn was scheduled to begin hearing evidence today against the espionage ring.

As U. S. Attorney Harold M. Kennedy sought indictments on which to try the 26 men and three women who were taken into custody over the week-end, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, announced the arrest of three more men.

The latest to be arrested, all seamen, were described by Hoover as "couriers" for the spy ring which has been charged with sending American defense secret to a foreign power. They are accused of transmitting information to German agents in South America.

EX-CHIEF SUCCUMBS

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A fall in his garden two weeks ago proved fatal to William S. Rowe, 86, one-time chief of Cleveland's police force. He resigned as police head in 1917 because of what he termed interference on the part of the mayor, Harry L. Davis.

150 Reaching 21 Since Last October Enroll at Draft Offices.

HAVE TILL 9 TONIGHT

Expect County to Have 550 Toward Ohio's Goal of 38,000.

Richland county young men who reached their 21st birthday since last Oct. 16 joined the ranks of approximately 38,000 Ohioans today in registering in the second peacetime muster of military manpower.

Mansfield's three selective service boards reported a registration of 150 at noon today against an estimated 550 expected to sign up throughout the county by 9 p. m. for prospective military duty.

Today's registration is expected to increase the army's pool of available man-power by 750,000 as it faced the immediate prospect of losing several million older men who registered in the first draft.

Approximately 600,000 of the 16,000,000 registered Oct. 16, are now in the army, but a large proportion of the 21-year-old registrants are expected to qualify for military training because few of them have dependents or physical disabilities.

No date has been set for the lottery which will determine the order in which the new registrants will be drafted. Officials said it probably would be held in the last two weeks of the month. They estimated that more than 1,000 numbers would be drawn and that the drawing would be completed in about two hours. The first lottery Nov. 16, required about 17 hours.

State selective service headquarters today advised local draft boards to grant temporary deferment to registrants who have reached their 28th birthdays.

The notification was in accordance with instructions from Washington, which informed state officials that the bill to cut the age limit from 36 to 28 had passed the senate and would be up for consideration in the house July 8. Provisions of the bill will be retroactive to July 1.

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts issued a public statement yesterday that called on draft boards to defer men 28 years and older pending house action on the bill, which McCormack said "probably will be passed."

TAX BOOKS OPEN

Steady Stream of Taxpayers Line Up at Courthouse.

Opening of tax books for Richland county real estate collections for the second half of the year brought a steady stream of taxpayers to the court house today.

Pre-collection receipts had mounted to $90,000 before the books officially opened, County Treasurer John E. Kolb said. Yesterday's collections alone totalled $3,000.

Collections for the last half are not expected to equal the $680,000 the total for the first half of the year, according to Kolb, since a large number of property owners paid their taxes at that time for the entire year.

Kolb predicted that receipts for the year will reach the highest mark in the last decade. The books will remain open until August 20.

Policy Change Seen As Knox Urges Letting Navy Guns Fire

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The statement of Secretary of Navy Knox that the time was at hand for the U. S. navy to clear the Atlantic of the "German menace" in order to aid Britain brought a demand that Knox be removed from the cabinet. Knox' ouster was urged by Sen. Wheeler (D.) Mont., a leader of the non-intervention bloc in congress.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Secretary Knox's call for immediate use of the United States navy "to clear the Atlantic of the German menace" led the capital to wonder today whether he was hinting at an important change in administration policy toward Nazi sea activities.

The direct language the navy secretary used in his speech at Boston last night gave rise to the belief in some quarters that definite revision was contemplated in existing naval strategy.

Knox, who addressed the annual conference of governors' urged that the naval forces be used to deal Hitler "a smashing blow," even though it involved "risk and danger . . . sacrifice to the extreme . . . if need be, American blood."

STORM LEAVES, MERCURY RISES

But Weatherman Says It'll Be Cooler Tomorrow; Bolt Hits on West Side.

Mansfield's most severe electrical storm of the year which struck the city at midnight failed to bring residents expected relief from sweltering heat blanketing the city for the sixth consecutive day. The weatherman, however, promised that it would be cooler tomorrow.

Although the torrential rains, accompanied by hail, thunder and lightning, dropped the temperature 14 degrees in less than an hour, Mansfielders awoke to find the mercury well on its way back to the top of the thermometer.

2 DROWNED IN SCIOTO RIVER

11-Year-Old and Would-Be Rescuer Swept Over Dam at Columbus.

COLUMBUS. — (INS) — Firemen today dragged the Scioto river for the body of one of two drowning victims who disappeared over a dam and into the churning waters below.

The victims were 11-year-old Rose Frey and Curtis Cremeans, 30.

The girl toppled into the waters as she tried to grab her pet collie which had walked out on top of the dam. Her parents and three of her sisters saw her sink in the churning waters.

Cremeans lost his life as he also went over the dam. His body had not been recovered at a late hour last night.

Monthly Armor Output By Republic Enough to Supply 200 Tanks.

'POT-AND-PAN' DRIVE HERE TO BE JULY 24-25

City and County Officials Are Asked To Handle Campaign For Used Aluminum.

THEY'LL GET TOGETHER

Chairmen To Direct Gathering of Old Utensils To Aid Defense To Be Named.

Mansfield and Richland county housewives will be called upon to donate all spare aluminum pots and pans for national defense, July 24-25, when a state-wide house-to-house canvass will be made to obtain materials to speed up the national defense.

This became known today when county commissioners and Mayor William J. Locke received telegrams from Gov. John W. Bricker asking that collection chairmen be appointed for the city and county.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the commissioners, said today that the appointments will be taken up this week as soon as a meeting with Mayor Locke can be arranged.

Information relative to the organization of committees and plans for the campaign will be furnished within the next few days, Governor Bricker advised.

Preliminary campaign details were drafted in Columbus yesterday by a group of state officials.

The state committee decided that use of mail carriers to pick the scrap metal at farm mail boxes would solve the problem in the rural area providing authorization to that effect is given by the postoffice department.

Organizations asked to co-operate in the drive include war veterans organizations, Ohio Farm Bureau, state grange, Boy Scouts and civic clubs.

Little difficulty is anticipated by the committee in city drives and will probably concentrate their activity on the rural areas.

Jack Flubrer, secretary to State Highway Director Hal Sours, and Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of the state highway patrol, members of the committee, said that highway department workers and patrolmen and quipment would be available for the campaign.

In the rural areas the highway department's county engineer will aid county commissioners in the collections. Highway patrolmen and department road workers will help transport the metal to central locations.

The national drive will last from July 21-30 with the house-to-house campaign scheduled for July 24-25.

(By International News Service)

Premier Josef Stalin wrote his first communique as commander-in-chief of the Russian army today and took sharp issue with German claims of undiminished victories on all sectors of the far-flung Nazi-Soviet battlefront.

Adolf Hitler's mighty mechanized legions are rolling steadily toward Moscow and steel tentacles are already being thrust toward the vital Ukrainian city of Kiev, Berlin said.

But Stalin, catapulted from his desk deep in the Kremlin to the war commissariat, said no.

The Germans have made advances at Murmansk on the Arctic battlefront, his first terse communique admitted, but elsewhere from the Baltic to the Black sea Russian mechanized forces are holding firm, repelling all German attacks with heavy losses to the enemy.

Thus the battle claims between the warring giants of totalitarianism continued. German authorities insisted that Nazi forces have already driven two-thirds of the way from the border to Moscow. They are now battering Red armies defending historic Smolensk, 225 miles along a broad motor highway from the Soviet capital, the Wilhelmstrasse said. Smolensk stood in Napoleon's way a century and a quarter ago. Using no more than "grape-shot" he wrecked the city in two days and moved on to the goal that finally proved his undoing.

The German high command admitted Soviet counter attacks in the Bialystock and Minsk areas, even though earlier announcements had been made that Minsk, Libau and Lwow had been captured and a deadly Nazi pincers tightened about an estimated 1,000,000 Red soldiers on the Polish front.

Soviet prospects for defending Moscow are growing blacker by the hour, Berlin said.

Ohio Soldiers Rest At Camp After War Games

CAMP SHELBY, Miss. — (AP) — Back home from war maneuvers, Ohio's 37th Division nursed mosquito and chigger bites today and looked forward to an extended Fourth of July week-end celebration.

STALIN DENIES GERMAN CLAIMS OF VAST GAINS

Red Leader Issues First War Communique After Taking Charge of Red Armies.

lin's communique stressed the "heavy losses" inflicted on the Germans. Moscow had its first air raid alarm of the the war but no bombs were dropped.

The Italian radio explained away Hitler's invasion of Russia. Premier Mussolini and the fuehrer, the broadcaster said, decided at their last Brenner Pass meeting that attack was essential to forestall a "treachery of colossal proportions" designed to wreck Germany and Europe with the connivance of London.

German officials declared that in the Lwow (Lemberg) area of Sovietized Poland, German forces destroyed 100 Russian tanks and captured 50 guns. They added that yesterday German planes destroyed 280 Russian planes, including 216 shot down in air battles.

Deadly German pincers were declared to have been formed around 1,000,000 Russian soldiers who were said to face annihilation unless they capitulated quickly.

The Red navy claimed to have sunk three German submarines, two in the Baltic and a third in the Black Sea.

Refusing to admit the German penetration beyond Minsk toward Moscow, the Russian high command communique said:

"In the direction of Minsk and Baranovich, our forces are waging a tenacious fight and are checking the advance of the numerically superior enemy."

Aerial warfare continued during the night between Germany and Britain. RAF planes hammered Duisburg, Dusseldorf and Cologne. German raiders bombed Hull, Lowestoft and the South Wales port of Cardiff.

At Berlin, meanwhile, it was announced that Germany, Italy and Rumania had extended formal recognition to the Japanese-sponsored Wang Ching-Wei government in China.

In Washington it was revealed the United States government will demand that Germany pay more than $1,000,000 as compensation for the sinking of the American freighter Robin Moor, which was torpedoed in the South Atlantic by a Nazi submarine.

Rumania Says 500 Reds Are Executed.

BUCHAREST, Rumania — (U.P.) —The Rumanian government announced today that 500 Communists had been executed in the Russian frontier region for aiding Soviet parachutists. It said that all persons would be shot, along with their families, who failed in future to denounce Russian agents or fifth columnists.

(Budapest, reporting the 500 executions in the Iasi area of the Bessarabian frontier, said that the victims were "Jewish Communists.")

OK's Volunteers To Fight Reds.

VICHY—(INS)—The French government announced officially today that, in conformity with international law, it will not oppose enlistment of French volunteers who wish to "participate in the European crusade against communism."

The announcement said the attitude of the French government applies to all zones of France, but that practical application of the ruling will be governed by Germany as the occupying power.

Axis Recognizes Jap Puppet Regime.

TOKYO —(AP)— Germany and Italy today accorded formal recognition to the Japanese-sponsored Nanking government of Wang Ching-Wei, thereby giving fresh support to the ambitions of their ally, Japan, to dominate East Asia.

Several minor adherents to the three-power alliance of Berlin followed suit. The government's information board announced that Rumania, Slovakia and Croatia had recognized the Wang regime as the national government of China (and in Berlin an authorized spokesman said Hungary and Spain also had notified the Axis of their intention to do the same.)

(This Axis move came as Japan was weighing a choice between Germany, her ally, and Russia, with whom she has a neutrality accord. Axis recognition of Wang Ching-Wei may have been a well timed move to influence Japan's decision; it also may have been payment for pledges already made by Japan.)

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Edward McDonald, St. Louis one-man Santa Claus, gave free toys to 1,211 needy children the past Christmas season, he has announced after a checkup. later and stayed at 68 until 5 a. m. By noon, the mercury had already passed 90 degrees and was still rising.

Although local thunder showers were not expected to relieve the situation much tonight, the weatherman promised cooler temperatures by tomorrow or tomorrow night.

Two Mansfield families were awakened when lightning struck a tree near their homes last night. Fred Rizzo, 599 Heineman boulevard, was knocked back from a bedroom window by the force of the bolt which blasted large chunks of wood from the tree.

Mrs. L. O. Blackstone, 601 Garfield place, who is a neighbor of Rizzo, said that the same stroke of lightning burned out the wiring on her cooking range but caused no fire.

George B. Ganyard, Richland county agricultural agent, reported that he had heard of no serious crop damage caused by the storm.

Accompanying the lightning and thunder was a strong wind which tore loose branches from trees throughout the city. In South Boulevards, summer furniture was lifted by the wind and strewn about yards.

Although Service-Safety C. M. Crafton had announced recently that the cleaning of a sewer at the Park avenue east subway would probably eliminate flooding there, many motorists were stranded temporarily by waters which rose to the running boards of the autos.

Highest point hit by the mercury yesterday was 92 degrees. Lowest was 65 which brought the day's average to 80 degrees. Sixteen year average for temperature was 70.9 degrees. Precipitation recorded amounted to .45 inches. Norwalk and Ashland reported over a half inch of rain.

Yesterday brought readings ranging from 101 at Cincinnati to the lower 90's clear across the state. It was 96 in Columbus, 95 in Cleveland.

Cause of all this is a huge mass of warm and exceptionally moist air shoved northward and eastward from the Gulf of Mexico by several days of southerly winds. Eventual relief will come from a mass of cool air that is beginning to move eastward from the Rockies.

Four drownings were recorded yesterday, two in the Scioto river at Columbus. They were Rose Frey, 11, who fell into the stream below a dam while trying to retrieve her dog, and Curtis Cremeans, 30, who waded into deep water.

At Urban, Joseph Kizer, 28, of St. Paris, stepped into a deep hole in Kiser State lake and perished. Carl Cooley, 14, drowned in the Little Scioto river near Portsmouth.

AFRICA TRYING ON HOME LIFE

Wisconsin Man Asserts That Interior No Place To Rear Family.

OCONOMOWOC, Wis.—(U.P.)—The interior of Africa is no place to rear a family.

Authority for that statement is Winfred Le Fevre, Oconomowoc. His observation is the result of more than two years spent in a remote settlement in Angola with his wife, Isabelle, and their son, John, who was born there in July, 1939.

When Le Fevre took his bride to Diamang-Dunde, 1,000 miles inland in the Dark Continent, in June, 1938, she learned that African housekeeping has its peculariar features. Waiting for them was a modern brick home, provided by the company for which Le Fevre worked, with electricity and running water. But the furniture!

No overstuffed armchair graced the interior of that African bungalow, no comfortable divan, pride of the Wisconsin housewife. Mrs. Le Fevre's furniture consisted exclusively of simple, hardwood articles which would have won the approval of the most exacting of Puritans.

However, they failed to win the approval of even the least exacting of termites. A piece of hardwood furniture doesn't interest the African pests, which will reduce an upholstered, softwood chair to sawdust in a week, according to the Le Fevres.

Social life in the mining village was so simple and unvaried as the furniture. Community center for the white inhabitants was a little Catholic church, the only one within hundreds of miles. Tennis was the only sport.

POLICY CHANGE FOR U. S. SEEN

Believe Administration Views War With New Outlook as Knox Urges Cleanup.

agreed here, went farther than Knox or any other cabinet officer had gone in any previous public pronouncements.

Some officials attached considerable weight to Knox's statements because of the immediate war outlook and the series of incidents affecting the United States since President Roosevelt re-asserted the nation's freedom of the seas doctrine in his fireside chat May 27.

For one thing, they said, the production of American armament industries has begun to hit something like its stride and the volume of supplies will grow rapidly in the months immediately ahead.

Those months—"vital months in this crucial year," as Knox phrased it—may represent a decisive opportunity for Britain, if Soviet Russia holds out, they added, hence the need for seeing that all the lease-lend supplies reach her as soon as they are available.

They reasoned that the greater the pressure Britain can apply in other theaters of war, the better Russian chances. Continued RAF onslaughts of greater intensity in the west might force the recall of some luftwaffe squadrons for defense, thereby lessening the air strength available against Russia in the east. Hit-and-run descents by raiding parties along the lengthy German-held coastline likewise could create diversions calculated to keep the Reich from reducing garrisons to reinforce the army in Russia.

Asserting "our business has become the halting of the Hun," Knox said.

"Now is the time to strike."

"If, while Hitler is assaulting Stalin," he declared, "we can clear the path across the Atlantic, and deliver the weapons our factories are producing, ultimate defeat for Hitler is certain."

AID BRITAIN

LONDON —(U.P.)— Mothers employed in munitions factories can be sure their children will be well cared for while they are away. Twenty-three day nurseries have been established in various industrial centers of England, with accommodation for nearly a thousand children. Twelve more nurseries will soon be ready.

pre-invasion technique has been to charge another country with invasion plans and then to move into the neutral country with the excuse of "forestalling" invasion.)

British Carry On With Western Air War.

LONDON—(U.P.)—British bombers struck again at heavy industries in the industrial Ruhr and Rhine areas during the night, concentrating on Duisburg, Cologne and Duesseldorf where "many fires" and "very heavy explosions" were observed, the air ministry said today.

"Many fires were started particularly at Duisburg followed by very heavy explosions," the air ministry said.

Four British bombers are missing, the air ministry reported.

(The official German news agency said British planes dropped explosive and incendiary bombs in the Rhineland, the Westfalian industrial district and Cologne last night, causing some damage and casualties, and that two raiders were shot down.)

Earlier, the air ministry had reported that British bombers and fighting planes ranged over the English channel and the North Sea all the way to the German naval base at Kiel yesterday.

Believe Cruiser With 35 Aboard Sank After Fire

ford, Me., residents was returning from Monhegan Island, 40 miles from here in the open Atlantic.

Carlton Smith, one of the many searchers, said that "undoubtedly" there had been an explosion aboard the heavily loaded Don.

He spoke after bringing ashore a body identified as that of Miss Elizabeth Howard, a Rumford bank employe. She had suffered bad burns on her legs and one hip.

The first five bodies found were those of women. Four of them were identified quickly as those of Miss Howard, Miss Ruth Hemingway, Rumford housekeeper, Miss Bessie Strople, Rumford bank clerk, and Miss Anne Stasulis, also a bank employe.

Wrist watches on two of the women had stopped at the same minute—11:40. Whether the tragedy had occurred Sunday night, Monday morning or Monday night, authorities were not able to determine immediately.

The Don, with 15 women and 20 men and boys aboard had set out Sunday morning for Monhegan Island. Searchers learned that the boat arrived there and departed again at 3:30 p. m., for what ordinarily would be a four hour run.

Before the boat reached home, however, a dense fog settled over the area. Even today, as a fleet of boats nosed through the rocky waters in search of more bodies or some physical trace of the missing cabin cruiser, Smith reported it was so foggy in lower Casco Bay that it was difficult to see more than a few feet.

Whether the Don put in to a harbor or dropped anchor Sunday night to wait out the fog, meeting with accident later, or whether she sank while trying to come immediately to her home landing, was a matter of speculation.

A systematic search started Monday morning.

Coast guards and state boat and shore fisheries warden's began searching for the boat yesterday.

Representing the company was John G. Masoni, Cleveland, co-partner, who said that heavy machinery for moving ground would be in operation within ten days. Masoni said that between 60 to 75 men would be employed on the project this summer but that more would be needed when paving and other concrete work starts. Most of the work done this year, he explained, will be in building the steel structures for the grade eliminations.

Grimes said that signs were being placed for detours which will go into effect next Monday morning. He was to confer with city officials late today to reach an agreement on detours in the city.

The state engineer said that original plans scheduled traffic to move from Fourth to Park avenue west on Ausdale and Western avenues. City officials, however, according to Grimes, want to route traffic over West Park drive. Wrichever streets are used, Grimes said that parking would have to be restricted unless oneway traffic was maintained.

BUILD CANNONS

Akron Rubber Firm Turns Out Anti-Aircraft Guns.

AKRON—(AP)—Mass production today became the next goal of Firestone Tire & Rubber company after it had turned over to the army the first of two pilot models of a new anti-aircraft cannon.

Officers of the company said a rate of five guns a day would be instituted in August, to be doubled in early fall.

The weapon is a 40 millimeter cannon which shoots an explosive shell at aircraft.

The Chrysler Corp. will manufacture the barrels and recoil mechanism, with Firestone handling the mountings and the assembly in a new $1,500,000 plant being finished. Sub-contractors include the Truscon company and the Marion Steam Shovel company.

FACES CHARGE

PERU, Ind—(AP)—John S. Stone, 36-year-old assistant store manager here, will be taken to Troy, O., today, Police Chief Edward Hobbs said, to answer a charge of robbing the G. C. Murphy store there. Chief Hobbs said Stone admitted the holdup in which the purses of some employes were taken and later returned by mail.

Federal Grand Jury Studies Espionage Plot as Three More Are Arrested.

raigned before U. S. Commissioner Martin C. Epstein. Seven of them, including one woman, pleaded guilty to acts of espionage. The other eighteen entered not guilty pleas.

At the request of Kennedy, the seven were held in $25,000 bail each for the grand jury. The others were held in a $25,000 bail each for further hearing on July 15. All will have a chance to plead again if they are indicted by the grand jury.

Two of the seamen who were arrested yesterday, Conradin Dold and Adolf Walischewsky, will be arraigned in Brooklyn later today. Dold was seized by G-men as the American export liner Excalibur arrived in New York harbor and Walischewsky was taken into custody aboard the Moore-McCormack line Uruguay.

The third prisoner, Heinrich Clausing, was arrested on the steamship Argentina before she docked late Sunday night at Santos, Brazil. He will be brought back to the United States for arraignment July 14.

Hoover, who was present at yesterday's arraignments, said that with the 32 arrests all the important members of the spy ring had been seized. They face maximum prison sentences of 20 years if convicted under the espionage act of June 1917.

The FBI chief said there possibly might be one or two more arrests but stressed the fact that the ring, whose liaison reached into American defense plants, and whose operations had been watched by federal agents for two years, had been smashed.

The seven who entered guilty pleas yesterday were Lilly Stein, Axel Wheeler-Hill, Alfred Brokhoff, Hartwig Kleiss, Leo Waalen, Franz Stigler, and Erwin Siegler.

Among those entering a not guilty plea was Frederick Joubert Duquesne, said by government agents to be the leader of the ring. Herman Lang, a former employe of the Norden company who worked closely with the famous Norden bomb sight, also entered a not guilty plea.

Navy Fires 28 Civil Service Workers

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Twenty-eight skilled civil service workers who naval spokesmen said "could not be trusted to work around military secrets" have been discharged from Mare Island navy yard.

Rear Admiral John W. Greenslade, commandant of the 12th naval district, said the dismissals—recommended by naval intelligence officers after thorough investigations — were "purely precautionary."

Naval spokesmen said the investigation would continue and that further discharges could be expected. The men discharged will not be blacklisted from private employment, they said. Their names were not given out.

SLOW DEALING MARKS TRADES ON STOCK MART

Conflicting Claims In War News From Moscow and Berlin Prove Block.

NEW YORK — Stocks jogged along in varying directions today with most market leaders holding to a narrow range. Dealings were about as slow as yesterday and, near the second hour, the list continued to display mild irregularity.

Market stumbling blocks, brokers said, persisted in conflicting German-Russian war claims, the cloudy tax picture and growing federal industrial restrictions.

Boardrooms derived some satisfaction from the federal reserve summary disclosing commercial, industrial and agricultural loans of member banks in 101 cities for the week ended June 25 increased $33,000,000.

Among bolstering items for railway securities was the compilation showing Class 1 roads earned $342,702,129, before interest and rentals, in the first five months of 1941. This compared with $197,432,327 in the comparable period last year.

'Painless' Plan To Finance National Defense Proposed.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(U.P.)—A "painless" method of financing the national defense program through weekly deduction of 25 cents from each worker's pay envelope is proposed by Mrs. Dorothy Marsh Baker, Indian research agent at the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences.

Mrs. Baker who asserts she "can't lose sight of the crisis facing the world," developed her plan during one lunch hour. And in other lunch hours she wrote to President Roosevelt and 96 United States senators telling them about it.

"It's so simple, I can't understand why no one else has broached it," she said. "Among other things the money could buy warships, planes, medicine or clothing. Anything that's needed."

Mrs. Baker would have the president appoint a commission of army and naval officers, leading business men and economists who could disburse the monthly funds pouring in from factory and office payrolls.

"The American people realize that the very bulwarks of civilization are threatened," she declared. "Thousands, I believe, will gladly pay their share to the government. Some might contribute more, depending on their income."

The armament purchases, she believes, would stimulate business and in turn increase factory payrolls so that no one would miss the 25 cents contributed weekly.

As an example, Mrs. Baker explains that under the plan Rochester employes of the Eastman Kodak company would alone contribute approximately $200,000 monthly.

She already has the support of the Monroe County Speakers Forum of 125 members. The forum's president, Louis Gesinger, plans to introduce the scheme to local organizations and industrialists.

STALIN DENIES GERMAN CLAIMS OF VAST GAINS

Red Leader Issues First War Communique After Taking Charge of Red Armies.

lin's communique stressed the "heavy losses" inflicted on the Germans. Moscow had its first air raid alarm of the the war but no bombs were dropped.

The Italian radio explained away Hitler's invasion of Russia. Premier Mussolini and the fuehrer, the broadcaster said, decided at their last Brenner Pass meeting that attack was essential to forestall a "treachery of colossal proportions" designed to wreck Germany and Europe with the connivance of London.

German officials declared that in the Lwow (Lemberg) area of Sovietized Poland, German forces destroyed 100 Russian tanks and captured 50 guns. They added that yesterday German planes destroyed 280 Russian planes, including 216 shot down in air battles.

Deadly German pincers were declared to have been formed around 1,000,000 Russian soldiers who were said to face annihilation unless they capitulated quickly.

The Red navy claimed to have sunk three German submarines, two in the Baltic and a third in the Black Sea.

Refusing to admit the German penetration beyond Minsk toward Moscow, the Russian high command communique said:

"In the direction of Minsk and Baranovich, our forces are waging a tenacious fight and are checking the advance of the numerically superior enemy."

Aerial warfare continued during the night between Germany and Britain. RAF planes hammered Duisburg, Dusseldorf and Cologne. German raiders bombed Hull, Lowestoft and the South Wales port of Cardiff.

At Berlin, meanwhile, it was announced that Germany, Italy and Rumania had extended formal recognition to the Japanese-sponsored Wang Ching-Wei government in China.

In Washington it was revealed the United States government will demand that Germany pay more than $1,000,000 as compensation for the sinking of the American freighter Robin Moor, which was torpedoed in the South Atlantic by a Nazi submarine.

Rumania Says 500 Reds Are Executed.

BUCHAREST, Rumania — (U.P.) —The Rumanian government announced today that 500 Communists had been executed in the Russian frontier region for aiding Soviet parachutists. It said that all persons would be shot, along with their families, who failed in future to denounce Russian agents or fifth columnists.

(Budapest, reporting the 500 executions in the Iasi area of the Bessarabian frontier, said that the victims were "Jewish Communists.")

OK's Volunteers To Fight Reds.

VICHY—(INS)—The French government announced officially today that, in conformity with international law, it will not oppose enlistment of French volunteers who wish to "participate in the European crusade against communism."

The announcement said the attitude of the French government applies to all zones of France, but that practical application of the ruling will be governed by Germany as the occupying power.

Axis Recognizes Jap Puppet Regime.

TOKYO —(AP)— Germany and Italy today accorded formal recognition to the Japanese-sponsored Nanking government of Wang Ching-Wei, thereby giving fresh support to the ambitions of their ally, Japan, to dominate East Asia.

Several minor adherents to the three-power alliance of Berlin followed suit. The government's information board announced that Rumania, Slovakia and Croatia had recognized the Wang regime as the national government of China (and in Berlin an authorized spokesman said Hungary and Spain also had notified the Axis of their intention to do the same.)

(This Axis move came as Japan was weighing a choice between Germany, her ally, and Russia, with whom she has a neutrality accord. Axis recognition of Wang Ching-Wei may have been a well timed move to influence Japan's decision; it also may have been payment for pledges already made by Japan.)

SANTA ACTIVE

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Edward McDonald, St. Louis one-man Santa Claus, gave free toys to 1,211 needy children the past Christmas season, he has announced after a checkup. In 1939, McDonald gave toys to 1,139 children, a previous record. Cash donations this year totaled $101.15, and expenditures were $100.27, leaving a balance of 88 cents.

HITCHING POSTS GO

PITTSFIELD, Mass. —(U.P.) — Convinced that the auto is here to stay, a score of residents in this western Massachusetts city have ripped up hitching posts from in front of their homes and donated them to the public works department for use as city-limit markers.

CAR STOLEN

As New Draft Registration Opens Here

Scenes like this were enacted today in Richland county's selective service board headquarters as 550 young men who had reached their 21st birthday by last Oct. 16 registered for prospective military duty in the nation's second peace-time muster of man-power. Samuel Welty, 201 Atcheson avenue, who became 21 years of age May 9, is shown here, left, answering the questions put to him by Capt. A. R. Allen, at Selective Service Board No. 1.

STORM LEAVES, MERCURY RISES

But Weatherman Says It'll Be Cooler Tomorrow; Bolt Hits on West Side.

later and stayed at 68 until 5 a. m. By noon, the mercury had already passed 90 degrees and was still rising.

Although local thunder showers were not expected to relieve the situation much tonight, the weatherman promised cooler temperatures by tomorrow or tomorrow night.

Two Mansfield families were awakened when lightning struck a tree near their homes last night. Fred Rizzo, 599 Heineman boulevard, was knocked back from a bedroom window by the force of the bolt which blasted large chunks of wood from the tree.

Mrs. L. O. Blackstone, 601 Garfield place, who is a neighbor of Rizzo, said that the same stroke of lightning burned out the wiring on her cooking range but caused no fire.

George B. Ganyard, Richland county agricultural agent, reported that he had heard of no serious crop damage caused by the storm.

Accompanying the lightning and thunder was a strong wind which tore loose branches from trees throughout the city. In South Boulevards, summer furniture was lifted by the wind and strewn about yards.

Although Service-Safety C. M. Crafton had announced recently that the cleaning of a sewer at the Park avenue east subway would probably eliminate flooding there, many motorists were stranded temporarily by waters which rose to the running boards of the autos.

Highest point hit by the mercury yesterday was 92 degrees. Lowest was 65 which brought the day's average to 80 degrees. Sixteen year average for temperature was 70.9 degrees. Precipitation recorded amounted to .45 inches. Norwalk and Ashland reported over a half inch of rain.

Yesterday brought readings ranging from 101 at Cincinnati to the lower 90's clear across the state. It was 96 in Columbus, 95 in Cleveland.

Cause of all this is a huge mass of warm and exceptionally moist air shoved northward and eastward from the Gulf of Mexico by several days of southerly winds. Eventual relief will come from a mass of cool air that is beginning to move eastward from the Rockies.

Four drownings were recorded yesterday, two in the Scioto river at Columbus. They were Rose Frey, 11, who fell into the stream below a dam while trying to retrieve her dog, and Curtis Cremeans, 30, who waded into deep water.

At Urban, Joseph Kizer, 28, of St. Paris, stepped into a deep hole in Kiser State lake and perished. Carl Cooley, 14, drowned in the Little Scioto river near Portsmouth.

AFRICA TRYING ON HOME LIFE

Wisconsin Man Asserts That Interior No Place To Rear Family.

OCONOMOWOC, Wis.— (U.P.) — The interior of Africa is no place to rear a family.

Authority for that statement is Winfred Le Fevre, Oconomowoc. His observation is the result of more than two years spent in a remote settlement in Angola with his wife, Isabelle, and their son, John, who was born there in July, 1939.

When Le Fevre took his bride to Dianang-Dunde, 1,000 miles inland in the Dark Continent, in June, 1938, she learned that African housekeeping has its peculariar features. Waiting for them was a modern brick home, provided by the company for which Le Fevre worked, with electricity and running water. But the furniture!

No overstuffed armchair graced the interior of that African bungalow, no comfortable divan, pride of the Wisconsin housewife. Mrs. Le Fevre's furniture consisted exclusively of simple, hardwood articles which would have won the approval of the most exacting of Puritans.

However, they failed to win the approval of even the least exacting of termites. A piece of hardwood furniture doesn't interest the African pests, which will reduce an upholstered, softwood chair to sawdust in a week, according to the Le Fevres.

Social life in the mining village was so simple and unvaried as the furniture. Community center for the white inhabitants was a little Catholic church, the only one within hundreds of miles. Tennis was the only sport.

POLICY CHANGE FOR U. S. SEEN

Believe Administration Views War With New Outlook as Knox Urges Cleanup.

agreed here, went farther than Knox or any other cabinet officer had gone in any previous public pronouncements.

Some officials attached considerable weight to Knox's statements because of the immediate war outlook and the series of incidents affecting the United States since President Roosevelt re-asserted the nation's freedom of the seas doctrine in his fireside chat May 27.

For one thing, they said, the production of American armament industries has begun to hit something like its stride and the volume of supplies will grow rapidly in the months immediately ahead.

Those months—"vital months in this crucial year," as Knox phrased it—may represent a decisive opportunity for Britain, if Soviet Russia holds out, they added, hence the need for seeing that all the lease-lend supplies reach her as soon as they are available.

They reasoned that the greater the pressure Britain can apply in other theaters of war, the better Russian chances. Continued RAF onslaughts of greater intensity in the west might force the recall of some luftwaffe squadrons for defense, thereby lessening the air strength available against Russia in the east. Hit-and-run descents by raiding parties along the lengthy German-held coastline likewise could create diversions calculated to keep the Reich from reducing garrisons to reinforce the army in Russia.

Asserting "our business has become the halting of the Hun," Knox said.

"Now is the time to strike."

"If, while Hitler is assaulting Stalin," he declared, "we can clear the path across the Atlantic, and deliver the weapons our factories are producing, ultimate defeat for Hitler is certain."

AID BRITAIN

LONDON —(U.P.)— Mothers employed in munitions factories can be sure their children will be well cared for while they are away. Twenty-three day nurseries have been established in various industrial centers of England, with accommodation for nearly a thousand children. Twelve more nurseries will soon be ready.

British Carry On With Western Air War.

LONDON—(U.P.)—British bombers struck again at heavy industries in the industrial Ruhr and Rhine areas during the night, concentrating on Duisburg, Cologne and Duesseldorf where "many fires" and "very heavy explosions" were observed, the air ministry said today.

"Many fires were started particularly at Duisburg followed by very heavy explosions," the air ministry said.

Four British bombers are missing, the air ministry reported.

(The official German news agency said British planes dropped explosive and incendiary bombs in the Rhineland, the Westfalian industrial district and Cologne last night, causing some damage and casualties, and that two raiders were shot down.)

Earlier, the air ministry had reported that British bombers and fighting planes ranged over the English channel and the North Sea all the way to the German naval base at Kiel yesterday.

Believe Cruiser With 35 Aboard Sank After Fire

ford, Me., residents was returning from Monhegan Island, 40 miles from here in the open Atlantic.

Carlton Smith, one of the many searchers, said that "undoubtedly" there had been an explosion aboard the heavily loaded Don.

He spoke after bringing ashore a body identified as that of Miss Elizabeth Howard, a Rumford bank employe. She had suffered bad burns on her legs and one hip.

The first five bodies found were those of women. Four of them were identified quickly as those of Miss Howard, Miss Ruth Hemingway, Rumford housekeeper, Miss Bessie Strople, Rumford bank clerk, and Miss Anne Stasulis, also a bank employe.

Wrist watches on two of the women had stopped at the same minute—11:40. Whether the tragedy had occurred Sunday night, Monday morning or Monday night, authorities were not able to determine immediately.

The Don, with 15 women and 20 men and boys aboard had set out Sunday morning for Monhegan Island. Searchers learned that the boat arrived there and departed again at 3:30 p. m., for what ordinarily would be a four hour run.

Before the boat reached home, however, a dense fog settled over the area. Even today, as a fleet of boats nosed through the rocky waters in search of more bodies or some physical trace of the missing cabin cruiser, Smith reported it was so foggy in lower Casco Bay that it was difficult to see more than a few feet.

Whether the Don put in to a harbor or dropped anchor Sunday night to wait out the fog, meeting with accident later, or whether she sank while trying to come immediately to her home landing, was a matter of speculation.

A systematic search started Monday morning.

Coast guards and state boat and shore fisheries warden's began searching for the boat yesterday.

The state engineer said that original plans scheduled traffic to move from Fourth to Park avenue west on Ausdale and Western avenues. ## Akron Rubber Firm Turns Out Anti-Aircraft Guns.

AKRON—(AP)—Mass production today became the next goal of Firestone Tire & Rubber company after it had turned over to the army the first of two pilot models of a new anti-aircraft cannon.

Officers of the company said a rate of five guns a day would be instituted in August, to be doubled in early fall.

The weapon is a 40 millimeter cannon which shoots an explosive shell at aircraft.

The Chrysler Corp. will manufacture the barrels and recoil mechanism, with Firestone handling the mountings and the assembly in a new $1,500,000 plant being finished. Sub-contractors include the Truscon company and the Marion Steam Shovel company.

raigned before U. S. Commissioner Martin C. Epstein. Seven of them, including one woman, pleaded guilty to acts of espionage. The other eighteen entered not guilty pleas.

At the request of Kennedy, the seven were held in $25,000 bail each for the grand jury. The others were held in a $25,000 bail each for further hearing on July 15. All will have a chance to plead again if they are indicted by the grand jury.

Two of the seamen who were arrested yesterday, Conradin Dold and Adolf Walischewsky, will be arraigned in Brooklyn later today. Dold was seized by G-men as the American export liner Excalibur arrived in New York harbor and Walischewsky was taken into custody aboard the Moore-McCormack line Uruguay.

The third prisoner, Heinrich Clausing, was arrested on the steamship Argentina before she docked late Sunday night at Santos, Brazil. He will be brought back to the United States for arraignment July 14.

Hoover, who was present at yesterday's arraignments, said that with the 32 arrests all the important members of the spy ring had been seized. They face maximum prison sentences of 20 years if convicted under the espionage act of June 1917.

The FBI chief said there possibly might be one or two more arrests but stressed the fact that the ring, whose liaison reached into American defense plants, and whose operations had been watched by federal agents for two years, had been smashed.

The seven who entered guilty pleas yesterday were Lilly Stein, Axel Wheeler-Hill, Alfred Brokhoff, Hartwig Kleiss, Leo Waalen, Franz Stigler, and Erwin Siegler.

Among those entering a not guilty plea was Frederick Joubert Duquesne, said by government agents to be the leader of the ring. Herman Lang, a former employe of the Norden company who worked closely with the famous Norden bomb sight, also entered a not guilty plea.

EXPECT 200 IN CRAWFORD TO REGISTER TODAY

Youths Reaching 21 Since First Draft Call Ready To Sign Up.

BUCYRUS—Five more Crawford county draftees started a year's army training when they left Bucyrus for national training camps Monday. Today approximately 150 to 200 additional men who have reached 21 since the first draft registration are expected to be registered in the county.

Those leaving for camps Monday were Samuel Arnone, Eldon W. Lunch, Harold F. Patterson, Orrin Earl Thornton, and Ralph William Nelson.

On July 11 call No. 22 will take John W. Teynor and Robert L. Hocker, volunteer, from the county.

Additional army training will begin here tonight when the medical detachment of the Third regiment of the Ohio State Guard will be mustered into service at the Bucyrus armory. Major Barry Potts of Columbus, member of the adjutant general's office staff, will be the mustering officer in charge.

Despite slashes in the national WPA quotas and budgets, Crawford county's WPA program will not be immediately effected, R. L. Hertzer, county supervisor, has announced.

The county quota under the new budget is 179 workers. Workers now employed on the program total 181 and the constant return of workers to private industry is expected to keep the figure at the quota.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, JULY 1, 1941.

The English channel is still English.

The American farmer is no longer a "rube" but an expert mechanic who knows what to do when a city slicker's car won't run.

Isolationists say that propaganda has led America to give aid to Britain. Maybe it's propaganda, too, that has led them to be isolationists.

Danger Ahead! Holiday Week-End

ANOTHER dangerous week-end is approaching—with probability that the accident death toll in the United States will be near the 500 mark for the three-day holiday period.

Past experience has indicated that not much can be done about this—in a statistical way—but from the standpoint of individual action many hazards can be avoided by persons inclined to carefulness.

Traffic accidents have become by far the most prolific killers on Sundays and holidays, when highways are crowded and all drivers seem to be in a hurry to get somewhere.

With moderate speed, constant watchfulness and respect for traffic regulations, many of the crashes which result in injury or death could be avoided and extreme caution is advised for motorists who plan trips over the holiday week-end.

This year will mark the finale of fireworks selling in Ohio, except for supervised public displays, and careful parents would do well to place this restriction into immediate effect, insofar as use of fireworks by their own children is concerned—as burns or possible loss of sight is too high a penalty for this dangerous form of entertainment.

Drownings also take their annual toll during the Fourth of July holiday and children and adults need exercise caution at bathing beaches and in using boats.

The Mansfield area was fortunate in passing through the recent Memorial day week-end with a minimum of serious automobile accidents and it will be well worthwhile to strive for a similar record next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Rural Population Increasing

BIRTHS in rural areas are running ahead of deaths at the rate of 400,000 a year, says a farm expert. It amounts to 2,000,000 more people in a decade. And the question arises, what will happen to this excess population?

There seem to be plenty of people on the farms now, and with the spread and improvement of modern machinery it takes fewer people to operate them. The excess population will want work.

"In part," says the expert, "this may take the form of producing goods and services for home use. But the old ideal of a completely self-sufficing farm economy is vanishing, if it has not already vanished, before the rising tide of urbanization."

Expansion might take the form of producing more goods and services on farms for general use. The market for foodstuffs may be limited, but with the spread of electric power it would be possible to establish small shops or factories on thousands of farms, using available raw materials to make many new things for the general market.

Making Trouble's No Trouble

IT'S SURPRISING how much trouble can be made unintentionally. There was the dog, for instance that started trotting across a busy Chicago street without meaning any harm to anybody. An observer reported as follows.

A woman driver swerved her car suddenly to avoid running over the dog. A second car banged into hers. A third car bumped violently into the second car from behind. A fourth car banged into the back of the third They were all pretty well tangled up and considerable damage done, although fortunately nobody was killed

And the fool dog? Why, he just trotted on about his business, apparently unaware that he had made any trouble for anybody.

Lots of people are like that.

After all these years of regarding the camel as a symbol of sobriety, it's a terrible shock to learn that camels can get drunk on water.

The Lasting Things

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THEY'RE driving the new herd into the ranch tonight. It's sundown and the dust is hanging above them in a golden mist. You can hear their tired lowing through the mist and the bewildered bleats of the calves, struggling to keep up.

On either side of the road the alfalfa and clover meadows stretch, green and cool. Now and then a thirsty cow bolts for the coolness—and a cowboy sways out, effortlessly . . . talking in his quiet, drawling voice . . . nosing her back into line. Presently they'll all be resting in the home field, wading, knee-deep, in the creek, with the fear fading out of their staring eyes.

Now, as they pass the dust settles. The meadows blur into bright pools of gold, laced with the lengthening shadows of the trees. Beyond the edging slopes, the forest wall begins -great pines as straight and blue against the still, white sky as campfire smoke—and oaks all huddled in a violet dusk.

Still. Everything is still except the birds . . . and everywhere they weave a web of song. Small, drowsy chirps and cheeps and bugling trills. And, in the woods, the clear and lovely fluting of a vesper thrush Then the low murmuring gurgle of the brook. And, from the old white oak, the hoot of the big owl.

The lights go on. The trail is full of laughing, jostling men—the cowboys through with chores and wanting chow. They crowd around the table in the long, low room and look approvingly upon the spread. Boiled dinner with fixings, platters heaped with fresh young cabbage, carrots, spuds and sliced, pink beef. Glass dishes filled with onions, pickled beets. Great piles of soda biscuits, piping hot. The usual bottles filled with "relishes," without which cowboys, seemingly, cannot survive. The boiled red beans which every Western table holds. Two monster coffee pots. And, waiting, fresh-baked apple pie and cheese.

They eat at first in hurried, careful gulps. Then, with the first edge gone from hunger, they begin to joke. "Bats" Brown was bunted off his horse today . . . that young dude, down at Tony's ranch, "has went 'n' got hisself a set of bright blue chaps" . . . Domingo's girl has fallen for that service station guy . . . there's a roar of joy. "Bats" and Domingo hide their wrathful blushes in hot gingerbread. The others tilt their chairs and roll a smoke. They hook high heels over the worn rungs. They talk of cows and cars and rodeos. The room goes steamy with the smell of food and leather, sweat, tobacco-men . . . Then they are gone, to seek the cowboy's early bed.

The trail along the ridge is quiet once again. The tangled garden glimmers in the night . . . sweet william, roses, lilies, mignonette. The fragrance from the new-cut clover rises like a tide. The pines are spangled with white stars, burning like flares against the deep blue night. From the near ridge there comes a fox's sharp bark . . . a lone, coyote yammers in reply. The bull frogs boom. The bats go flittering.

I gather up the leavings of the day and set my batch of bread.

A simple day. A day you might call dull. And yet, believe me, these are the lasting things. These are the things that feed, and heal, the soul.

These were the things for which the human world began. And which will stand when all the tale is told. They will outlast the hate and agony of war . . . the long bewilderment of work and idleness . . the poison and the dense stupidity of vanity and greed.

Hold fast to this! We will not always fight! Some day we will come back to lowing herds.

To laughing crews around a simple meal.

To quiet pine trees holding still, white stars.

This Is Ohio

THE cherished cannon known as "Old Betsy" now rests at Fremont, the scene of its valorous work in defense of Fort Stephenson during the war of 1812.

After the war, it was removed to the Pittsburgh arsenal. Some years later, congress ordered its return to the scene of its early triumph. Owing to the duplication of village names, it was missent to Sandusky, where authorities who wished to keep it there buried it. Detectives from lower Sandusky, however, located it and wagons and men were sent to bring it home.

The cannon was said to have been captured from the French in the French and Indian war of 1756-63 and brought to Fort Stephenson at the beginning of the second war with Great Britain.

Thoughts My Adventuring.

Tonight my sole adventuring
Shall be my thoughts and I
Will have from them the ecstacy
That swings my spirit high.

I will go back to travel ways,
And once again I'll be
In the Himalayas, India's
Bright snow-capped mountains see.

Philosophies I have worked out
Shall be a part of this,
I will bring back romance and dream
Again its word and kiss.

Thought my adventuring tonight.
Not only past I'll know,
But into future I shall dip,
Point where my path shall go.

Let's Look Around

'Home Town' Is Always the Best

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

MANSFIELD, Ohio—While a jaunt into sixteen states and a trip through hundreds of cities, with stopovers in several dozen of them, adds to appreciation of the "home town" it also reveals opportunities for further civic progress in any city willing to profit by observation of what has been done elsewhere.

Coming back to Mansfield, after a "see America first" drive of eight thousand miles, the impression is strengthened that all the leisure of a lifetime could be interestingly devoted to travel in this country, without staying overlong in any one place, or duplicating the territory covered.

With so much to be seen, and so many places to be visited, the wonder is that some vacationers choose a beaten path to the same spot year after year rather than planning to make each vacation an opportunity to visit some new and different part of the country.

THOSE who have been long-time residents of Mansfield are entitled to confirmation of their belief that this is one of the finest cities in the country in which to live—and that there is a variety here, in climate, beauty of scenery and diversity of activities, that makes this city much more attractive than many others which may appear to have greater temporary appeal.

This, of course, expresses the view of a native Ohioan and an admirer of Mansfield, who has had opportunity to observe the progress of this city through more than 35 years—with inclination to emphasize its fine points and to minimize its shortcomings.

Loyalty to the "home town," is, however, a widespread attribute of people in all parts of the country, and it is only in self-satisfied communities that the spirit of progress is lacking.

An attitude of complacency is among the most dangerous for the people of a city to adopt, if there is to be a continuous program of civic betterment—and leadership of public thought in Mansfield may well be along lines of further civic improvements to which majority support can be attracted.

BELIEF is confirmed that Ohio motorists, as a group, have many things to learn before their driving will compare favorably with the average in a number of other states, and—regretful as the admission may be—driving habits in Mansfield are among the worst encountered anywhere.

This applies particularly to excessive speed on city streets; disregard for stop signs and traffic lights; cutting corners in making left turns; double parking; all-night parking without lights on residence streets, and lack of consideration for pedestrians at intersections.

Failure to enforce traffic regulations has been largely responsible for this condition—which can be quickly corrected when more adequate policing is provided.

BEST GOVERNED and most economically operated cities, in whatever state they are located, are apparently those that have found a way to eliminate the largest possible percentage of partisan politics from the handling of public business.

* * *

THE QUESTION is being asked, "What place that you visited was most interesting," to which a brief answer is difficult. But here's a try:

Most interesting city: San Francisco.

Most interesting sight: Eruption of Old Faithful geyser in Yellowstone.

Immigration Service Not Acting In Case of Princess Hohenlohe

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Today the famous Princess Hohenlohe no longer faces deportation back to Germany, while the German consul general in San Francisco, Captain Fritz Wiedemann, does.

But what is not known about either of them is that at one time they hatched up a German-British peace plan between them, after conferences with a well-known Britisher in the United States.

Princess Stefanie Hohenlohe-Waldenburg-Schillingsfuerst, Vienna born, is about 45 years old, a woman of great culture and charm, who attracts many admirers. She has friends in almost every capital of Europe, once was called "London's leading Nazi hostess." The late Lord Rothermere, just before war broke, cooperated with the Princess in an appeasement program.

When she came to the United States, one of her close friends was Captain Wiedemann, former commander of Adolf Hitler when der Fuehrer was a corporal in the late war. Both lived in San Francisco. Both motored extensively around California, frequently stopping at tourist camps in the California mountains.

The princess lived at the Mark Hopkins hotel in San Francisco, where Captain Wiedemann was a frequent caller. And it was at this hotel in November of last year that Princess Hohenlohe received an interesting British visitor.

British Secret Service.

HE WAS Sir William Wiseman, head of the British intelligence service in the United States during the World war, and now a member of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb in New York.

Sir William flew to San Francisco, where he stopped at the Mark Hopkins hotel and immediately went into huddle with Princess Hohenlohe and the German consul general. The huddle lasted for three days.

During it, a peace plan was worked out—a plan not unlike many such plans previously hatched, by which Germany would keep the entire continent of Europe. With her huge army this would make it possible for her to attack England at any time.

Sir William Wiseman's part was to arrange with Viscount Halifax, then foreign minister, to permit Princess Hohenlohe to return to England with her peace proposals. Sir William flew back to New York. But after that nothing happened; the peace proposals apparently fell flat.

It was shortly after this that the justice department moved to deport Princess Hohenlohe. It was at that time also that she suddenly became ill. An overdose of sleeping powder was reported to be the reason, and public health doctors called it "hysteria."

Princess Not Watched.

FOR some time, immigration officials of the justice department dallied over her future. Finally Lemuel Schofield, chief of the immigration and naturalization service, went to San Francisco and spent several days interviewing the lady. In the end, he wrote a long report on her activities, and the order for her deportation was rescinded.

However, Schofield has never shown his report to members of the federal bureau of investigation. Although they are under the same roof, and both are bossed by the attorney general, Schofield operates his own investigation service and makes little effort to correlate his activities with the streamlined organization of J. Edgar Hoover. Whenever Hoover's men ask for the report on Princess Hohenlohe, they get the reply, "It hasn't been transcribed yet."

Today, the princess, recovered in health immediately after the deportation order was dropped, is free to do whatever she pleases in California. Despite her past, the immigration service is keeping no special eye on her.

Merry-Go-Round.

LORD HALIFAX knows his way around at a fox hunt, but he will never win any prizes as a dynamic executive. The high-born Briton dislikes telephones so much that he rarely uses them to transact even urgent business, sending instead written memos and letters. Matters that have to pass through his hands proceed at a snail's pace . . . It was an ironic spectacle when congress barred Benjamin Lasser, former head of the Workers Alliance, from the WPA rolls on the ground that he was a leftist. Lasser quit the Alliance because he was unable to wrest it from Red control, and Kommies were in the galleries applauding the legislative ban against him. . . . Two of the most influential behind-the-scenes labor advisers in defense are Edward F. McGrady, brilliant former assistant secretary of labor, who is on the staff of Secretary Stimson; and Eli Oliver, former head of Labor's Non-Partisan league, who is a lieutenant of Associate OPM Director Sidney Hillman.

Ham Radio Operators.

THEY may be just "hams" to the professionals, but to government officials the nation's 56,000 amateur radio operators have assumed great importance in the job of patrolling the ether.

Uncle Sam intends to use the "DX'ers" as auxiliary listening posts to identify and record foreign propaganda broadcasts. The amateur dial-twirlers are constantly on the lookout for new invaders of the airwaves, and have been quick to report suspicious broadcasts.

They made an outstanding record for themselves when they maintained communications during flood and hurricane disasters, and now the federal communications commission is looking to the "hams" for an important link in the defense of the country.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

The glittering institution of the New York night club, born in the turbulent Twenties, has entered upon a new phase. Here is the first of a series, Broadway Columnist George Tucker tells you what has happened to it.

NEW YORK—Folks, some people claim that the night clubs in New York aren't what they used to be, that the thrill is gone, that the excitement has slowed down to a walk.

"Why, I remember Zelli's, and Texas Tommy's, and the Silver Slipper," they say. "I remember the night the police broke into the Chez Morgan, armed with axes and wrecked $75,000 worth of decorations. They hacked a 60-foot bar to pieces.

"I was sitting right there. I was sitting right next to 'Legs' Diamond. He was so close I could have reached out and touched him. That was a night! Boy, those were the times. You don't see things like that any more."

Well, folks, that's right, in a way. You don't see things like that any more. You don't see "Legs," because "Legs" is dead, and most of the mob is dead with him, some in silver coffins after $50,000 funerals, and others in lonely lime-pitted graves.

No, you don't see the hoodlums lording it around Broadway as you used to, and you don't see wrecking crews with axes.

But you're wrong when you think the bloom is off the bush. We've got night clubs today—as many if not more than we ever had. Some are as ornate and lavish in decor as their predecessors were, and some are just as small and chummy and intimate. In fact, just to look at them you couldn't tell the difference.

But there is this difference:

In the old days they peeped at you through a slot before they let you in. Today, you walk in free and easy.

Ten years ago, the sale of liquor was against the law. This meant legitimate business men couldn't operate, and so the mob was there. Today, the night clubs are back in the hands of business men.

Let's see now. Let's name them. There's the Rainbow Room, the Diamond Horseshoe, the Stork, El Morocco, Monte Carlo, Twenty-One, the Riviera . . . These are the big night clubs, the show places of New York. There are no hoodlums there. Maybe that's what they mean when you say the thrill is gone.

There's something else, too. Ten years ago, when you took a drink (which never cost you less than $1 a throw) you never knew whether you suddenly would go blind or be inspired by a craving to see blood spilled. That's what illegal hootch did to you. Today the stuff inside the bottles is what the labels say it is.

Finally, ten years ago, when you walked into a night club, somebody yelled "Hello Sucker," and he (or she) was right—because you were. You were being played for a sap. You paid anywhere from three to five dollars cover charge just for the privilege of sitting in a chair. That didn't pay for anything you ate or drank.

Nobody yells "Hello Sucker" at you today.

But they're mighty likely to ask you, along with everybody else, to join in a chorus of "God Bless America."

(Tomorrow: The old Night Club Era.)

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Shoplifter"—Gothic Heritage.

"Shoplifter" is not, as may at first thought be surmised, just an allusion to an individual who "raises something into the air" from a counter in a store, say,—and unceremoniously departs.

The implications inherent in the word are more fundamental and intriguing.

"Shoplifter" is composed, not of the obvious "shop" plus "lift" meaning to pick up; but "shop" plus another "lift."—the one akin to the Gothic hliftus thief, from hlifan to steal!

It is a distinction, and, to the lover of words and how they started, not without a difference.

Words of the Wise

Culture is the passion for sweetness and light, and (what is more) the passion for making them prevail.—(M. Arnold).

Philosophy can hold an easy triumph over the misfortunes which are past and to come; but those which are present triumph over her. By philosophy we are taught to dismiss our regrets for the past, and our apprehensions of future evils; but the immediate sense of suffering she cannot, teach us to subdue.—La Rochefoucauld.

A Farmer's Diary

Hay-Making Time

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

"LOOKS like hay making and harvest'll come right at the same time this year," I heard one farmer say to another. And that same day—a month ago, it was—I noticed a very modern farmer mowing alfalfa and hauling it, green to his barn, for filling his silo. Combined with dark molasses, it made a juicy, vitamin-filled ensilage that will improve the milk yield of his dairy herd throughout the winter.

Last week our neighbor cut his clover and timothy field. Early in the morning I heard the sleek metallic click of this man's mower. The next morning he raked it with the side delivery rake and that afternoon, with his daughter along to drive, he loaded the twisted skein of fragrant hay upon the wagon as fast as the hay loader delivered it to the top of his load. He pulled a trip rope to uncouple the loader and drove up the gravel road to the barn. He and his daughter, in their wide straw hats, looked very small, half buried in the top of the wide, quivering load.

On many farms, where last year stalwart boys worked in the sun and made the fragrant hay, now older men and women do the job, and children ride the horses at the barn to pull the fork, or tramp the dusty pungent grass down in the mow. Hot work it is! Those boys who drill in the sun at army camps for the nation's defense have left a first line of defense on the home farms for the rest of us to fill.

I saw an old couple in the hay field. Perhaps their sons have gone to the training camps. The old man had raked the hay into piles with an old-fashioned dump rake, and the old lady drove the team and loaded for him, while he pitched it on—a slow and tedious process.

Their little barn had no track beneath the comb of the roof and I wondered if he would pitch it off as well, and she would labor dangerously in the mow. I hoped dusk would free them from this heavy task and the homely chores of evening would give welcome change.

Their memory, no doubt, goes back to olden times when the binder and loader and mower were rarer than grass silage is now—when the scythe and cradle were well used tools at harvest time and hand bound sheaves were familiar sights in every field.

COUNTY BOARD ENDS SCRAP ON RURAL HIGHWAY

Commissioners To Establish Two-and-One Half Mile Section Near Dam.

Ending a long-standing dispute over the closing of an old road and opening of another near the Pleasant Hill dam, Richland county commissioners yesterday established a two-and-one-half mile section of a new road in the area as a part of the county system.

The action was taken after a public hearing at the courthouse failed to bring any protests against establishing the new section of road to replace one abandoned recently by the county.

Commissioners had postponed the hearing twice while they awaited completion of the road by the U. S. war department which is in charge of road construction in the Muskingum Conservancy district. The old Newville-Perrysville road was abandoned because sections of it will be flooded by waters back of the Pleasant Hill dam.

A number of property owners in the area served by the new road protested at a hearing last week that the road is hilly and does not give them an adequate outlet to the east. They proposed keeping the old road open until a better substitute is provided by the federal govenment.

Told by army engineers that there was no chance of getting the road plans changed, county commissioners abandoned the old road despite the protests.

The section of new road parallels the old Newville-Perrysville road on the south. It is 16 feet wide and of gravel construction. It has been opened to traffic. As a part of the county system, the road will be maintained by the county highway department.

PLANS DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS

A fireworks display and a "name" band will feature the annual Fourth of July celebration at Seccaium park, near Bucyrus, it was announced today.

A fireworks show will climax the Independence day activities at the park. Music for dancing during the week-end will be furnished by George Terry and his band featured by the trap drumming of Don Baer.

The swimming pool at the park is now open every day until 10:30 p. m.

One Killed, 32 Hurt In Bus Crash

SAFETY RECORD

ITALY, Tex.—(INS)—Some sort of national, perpetual safety record is claimed by Italy, town of 1300 population in Ellis county, Texas. Italy has never had a death within its city limits caused by an automobile accident. Furthermore, no murder has ever been committed among the white citizenship since the town was organized 65 years ago.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT PLANNING CLINIC FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

First grade pupils in Mansfield and Richland county schools will be examined in a pre-school clinic this year.

Dr. William B. Wild, acting city-county health commissioner, announced today that although a definite schedule had not been arranged yet, the school children would be given an examination this year.

The clinic was twice postponed. Once because of the measles epidemic and again by the death of Dr. R. C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner.

Wild said that county pupils would be examined in late August just before the opening of school and the city pupils would be examined shortly after school opens.

Announcement was made previously that because of the measles cases, it might be necessary to abandon the pre-school clinic this year.

Wild said, however, that through a rearrangement of vacations and an easing of the measles load it would be possible to hold the clinic.

Although the first, third and fifth classes are usually examined in the pre-school clinic, Wild said that only first grade pupils could be examined this year.

U. S. SEARCHES FOR SURVEYORS

The U. S. Civil Service commission is conducting a nation-wide hunt for Marine surveyors, George H. Hoover, Civil Service secretary in Mansfield, announced today. Marine surveyors are inspectors of ocean-going merchant ships who check the safety and seaworthiness of ships and prescribe necessary repairs and maintenance.

Hoover said the position was open to any Marine surveyors in Mansfield or vicinity with salaries starting at $3,200 a year.

Further details can be obtained from Hoover at the Mansfield postoffice.

"Taking the right of way" caused more injuries than any other factor involved in American traffic accidents in 1940. Approximately 235,700 persons were hurt in accidents listed under that cause.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary glanced at her wrist watch, then wrinkled her nose at me.

"You won't have long to wait," she said. "It's almost two now. But why that mystic hour?"

"I thought I had told you," I said. "Donald is to telephone me at two, and find out what you know about Marion's letter."

"Probably you did tell me," she returned, "but I've been in such a dither tonight that I'm not sure whether my dome is perpendicularly attached to my body or canted a bit to one side. I hope you admire and approve the way I've done my bit of camouflage.

She was camouflaging something beside an old saying, I commented to myself, as I caught the expression of her eyes, which was wholly at variance with the laughing lightness of her words. It was not only a searching expression, as though she were looking for something in my face which would justify her in a confidence, but it was also uncertain and troubled.

Wants Mary's Confidence.

My first impulse was to say gently, "What is it, Mary?" but I knew her well enough not to try to force her confidence, especially as I saw that she was undecided about giving it at all. Instead I answered her spoken words as lightly as she had given utterance to them.

"I am lost in admiration," I told her. "I am not sure even now that you mean you don't know whether or not your head is on straight."

I was talking against time now, for in that look in her eyes meant anything, the words trembling against her lips held a meaning which she considered of vital importance. I ought to have time to listen to them without interruption, and an opportunity to consider my answer carefully.

With the knowledge that Ronald's telephone would break into any colloquy of ours, and the realization that I simply must go over to the party as soon as I had given the distraught boy what news I had, I knew that I must keep Mary from telling or asking me anything until I should have time to give her the sympathetic understanding which my intuition told me she sorely needed.

Madge Awaits Phone Call.

But I found it impossible to follow her injunction for a nap, although usually I can sleep anywhere at a moment's notice, almost "standing up." But the last few minutes had been such terrifying ones that I found myself living them over, felt myself being dragged down to the floor in the grasp of the desperate bandit, felt again his clutching, murderous fingers upon my throat.

I brought myself back to sanity with a mighty effort. The gangster now was safely on the way to my father's hideaway in Greenwich Village, where he would be "interrogated" concerning Marion's hiding place.

How much he know—he evidently was but a minor member of the gang—was problematical, but at least he was a point of contact, and a possible source of information.

We had gained that much, and I counted my bruised throat a low price for the bargain. I also found that I could rest calmly, even if I could not sleep.

But it was only a few seconds after my return to sane thinking that the telephone rang, and I heard Mary spring to answer it.

"Ronald?" I heard her query. "No? Then who wishes to speak to Mrs. Graham?"

Inventive Boys Face Many Risks

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

Perhaps some eager, imaginative boys from eight to 14 want to experiment with dangerous chemicals. A few parents, supposing they have a budding genius, will provide their boy with chemical sets, without having first trained the youth in a few basic principles of safety. The same applies to sharp-cutting, motor-driven tools.

Many a lad of 12 or 14 has so mastered mechanical, electrical and chemical principles that he can go on experimenting with safety. At the same time, there are many boys over-confident and resistant of adult suggestions concerning grave perils to themselves, their family and others. Some boys have met with serious accidents.

In these days when so many dangerous chemicals are available, wise parents first train the growing child from his very early years to mind and to accept some forbiddings as final, especially in respect to safety.

Proper Supervision Important.

All too many boys today are given chemical sets too early or without proper supervision. Curiosity is not always a sign of inventive genius. Chemical and electrical materials can even lure the feeble-minded.

The child who learned some basic inhibitions in a home where he also learned to cooperate, has some background for caution and safety.

Some parents, over-receptive to the value of first-hand experience in education, are loaths to restrain the adventurous youngster from 3 to 12 lest they hamper his curiosity.

While experience is valuable, it also may prove costly. We parents need to remember that we got some very valuable wisdom from the experience of our parents and others before them and that our children can get, vicariously, considerable experience from us. If youth could realize this fact they could save themselves from a vast deal of trouble, pain and sorrow. When, however, we have won the confidence and esteem of our adolescent children, they are willing, occasionally at least, to accept our advice.

Care of Property.

The creative and inventive child needs to learn reasonable care of property and to be considerate of the rights of others. Some bright children, handy with tools, will, in their eagerness to achieve their goals, use almost anything about the house for their purpose with out first ascertaining the value of this material. With proper guidance, the creative and inventive child can have his curiosity encouraged and still learn reasonable habits of safety, care of property and consideration for the rights of others.

Without cost, you may have a selected list of books on manners for children, youth and their parents, by writing me at 235 East 45th St., N. Y. City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems.

Q. What do you consider the best way to create good reading tastes in the child?

A. Read nursery rhymes, folk lore, and other rich literary sources which have stood the test of time. Begin to read as soon as he will look at pictures for a few minutes at a stretch and continue indefinitely in an atmosphere of family security and love where good literature is enjoyed by all. Have the best books and magazines available.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, July 2.

Although this is presaged to be a day of excellent initiative and surprising opportunities both for success in material affairs and great joys in private affiliations, yet these fine auspices may be nullified or obliterated by lack of discretion and vigilance. There are antagonisms from high places and treacheries from unsuspected sources, particularly where documents, writings, publicity or public agents may be concerned.

Those whose birthday it is should stand at the threshold of a year of splendid opportunity and magnificent achievement, with unusual thrill and gratification in the personal life. All things are under exciting and dramatic auspices, but subject to opposition from elders or those in power and also from duplicity, fraud or misrepresentation from public agents, through writings, documents, careless speech or other treacheries.

A child born on this day should have great ambitions and the efficiency and talents to attain them, although subject to imposition and fraud from high places. Its emotional life may give great happiness and satisfaction.

Employes Meet for Picnic at Millersburg

One of the beauty spots of Holmes county, the American Legion park, four miles south of Millersburg, was selected for the annual picnic of employes of the Golden-Russell store in Mansfield and Golden's store in Cochocton, Sunday.

A chicken dinner was served at the noon hour in the park building with 125 in attendance.

The afternoon was spent socially, and at evening an entertainment was presented by the Mast family of Sugarcreek. Dancing concluded the evening with music furnished by an orchestra composed of John Armstrong, Lavern Lowe, Robert Miller and Robert Parkinson.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY

Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

RISKING YOUR STREAK

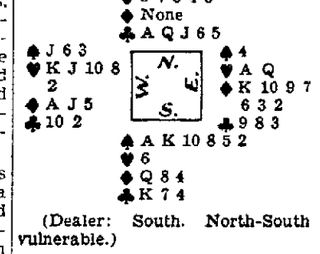
If you were on a long string of successive winning rubbers — the longest streak of your life, longest you ever heard of—how hard would you strain to keep it going? Suppose your partner had just given you a strong slam invitation on the hand which would add another rubber to your string if you refused the invitation and bid only game. Would you merely bid the game and make sure of prolonging the streak? Or would you consider that your partner's rights demanded you bid the slam if your cards justified it?



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | 2 ♥ | 3 ♣ | 3 ♦ |
| 3 ♠ | 4 ♦ | 5 ♦ | Pass |
| 6 ♠ | | | |

With just time for two rubbers, this writer put his streak of 14 consecutive rubbers in jeopardy. The 15th was easy, though, a two-game rubber with a couple of small sets on each side, winding up as a "nine" rubber. In the first deal of the 16th, the cards were again kind, and a heart game by his partner was the result. Then came the deal shown above, to close out the 16th.

That 5-Diamond call was a corker. It did various things. It assured adequate support for the rebid spades, guaranteed no losers in diamonds and of course invited slam, thereby indicating that the clubs must be quite a suit. So that club K looked like a soliditier, which it was, leaving only a heart loser in sight. Hence, instead of a sign-off at 5-Spades, the small slam was bid.

West led his diamond A, and it was all over. After that was ruffed trumps were dropped and the other two diamonds were discarded on the clubs, a heart being given up at the end.

"Why didn't you make seven," asked our partner, "by ruffing another diamond and throwing one diamond and the heart on the clubs?"

For the simple reason that this endangered the contract unduly. After the first diamond ruff, the club K would be one entry for a second diamond ruff, but then the spade Q would have to be overtaken to be in position to drop trumps. If they were not divided evenly—and they were not—the defenders would thus win one trick in spades, one in hearts and one in diamonds, setting the small slam two tricks. Anything but safe play would have been very unsound on this deal, streak or no streak. Now for the 17th!

SPLIT SEEN IN DEM RANKS AS LAUSCHE FILES

Sweeney Called Possible Rival In Primary; G. O. P. To Support Blythin.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — The announcement of Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Lausche's candidacy for mayor of Cleveland has projected a possible new split in Democratic ranks while political observers forecast the Republicans would stand by the present incumbent Edward Blythin, the Welsh immigrant who rose to mayor.

The Democratic organization executive committee is expected shortly to endorse Judge Lausche as its candidate in the fall primaries. But there is a strong possibility that Rep. Martin L. Sweeney, D., O., may enter also as Democratic mayoralty candidate.

During the past month; Judge Lausche, a former star sandlot baseball player, has been brought under pressure to run as the strongest candidate the Democrats can muster to regain the chief executive's post which they have held only once in the last 25 years.

Three candidates now have announced their intention to run for mayor — Judge Lausche, Mayor Blythin to succeed himself, and Arthur H. Day, former Ohio supreme court justice.

Day is seeking support from Republican ranks and what Democratic help he may receive. Mayor Blythin will receive the support of the Republican organization

Former Mayor Harry L. Davis, also is being talked of as a Republican candidate for mayor. Associates of Davis insist he will be a candidate, but the former chief executive has had no comment on such reports.

There is also considerable talk of County Engineer John O. McWilliams entering the Democratic primary lists, but when regular Democratic party support is announced for Judge Lausche—as is expected—the rumors, it is believed, will dissipate.

Judge Lausche will resign from the common pleas bench Aug. 20 and with his resignation Gov. John W. Bricker, will have two vacancies to fill. The other vacancy was caused by the death of Judge John P. Dempsey

The question of municipal ownership of the city's transportation facilities is expected to be the major issue of the fall campaign. Mayor Blythin is an outspoken exponent of municipal ownership while Judge Lausche is expected to urge speedy settlement of the Cleveland railway franchise dispute.

As to his stand on the matter, however, Judge Lausche said that he will have "a positive stand on the issue when the campaign opens."

2 MEN FINED

Columbus Pair In Court on Charges of Peddling.

Two Columbus men were fined $30 each yesterday when they were arraigned before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court on charges of peddling without a license and failure to register with Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

Judge Kalbfleisch fined Sam F. Bloom and Carl H. Lytle, $20 each for failure to have license and $10 each for failure to register. He suspended the first fine and warned the men to observe the law in the future.

Bloom and Lytle were arrested while peddling vegetables and fruits from door to door. Police said they were aware of the regulations because they held 1940 licenses.

Move Equipment To New Camp for Area Boy Scouts

Johnny Appleseed Boy Scout headquarters today announced that over the week-end eight Mansfield high school boys working under the direction of Floyd Dent and D. D. Montova scout executives had moved tent floors, benches, tables and other equipment to the camp site three miles south of Ontario on Route six.

The new camp site, which will see its first use beginning July 13, is composed of 75 wooded acres and at present has two permanent buildings. One of them will serve as a mess hall, headquarters and store room while the other is a dwelling.

The Scouts' old camp site located on U. S. Route 42 between Mansfield and Ashland, was recently sold to the Ohio Synod of the Lutheran church.

AAA HAS CARDS FOR MARKETING COUNTY WHEAT

They Must Be Presented at Market When Selling, Says Committee Chairman.

Preparing for the wheat harvest season which will get under way in Richland county this week, the county AAA committee will have wheat marketing cards ready for county wheat farmers within a few days, Guy L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, said today.

Under the federal marketing quotas voted several weeks ago by farmers, wheat growers must present the cards when they take their grain to market or pay a 49-cent penalty on every bushel of wheat they sell.

The marketing card, issued by the county AAA committee, shows that the bearer has complied with the regulations by keeping his crop within limits set by the government and is entitled to sell grain free of penalty.

Farmers who are within their wheat allotment are free to sell or feed all the wheat they grow this year. The quotas are not applicable to wheat grown last year or before.

Farmers who have more than 15 acres of wheat to harvest this year and produced more than their quotas permit must pay the 49-cent penalty on excess wheat they sell, store the excess grain in approved bins, or turn the grain over to the federal government for relief purposes.

Wheat cutting started yesterday in the county and binders and combines are expected to be busy by the end of the week. Early reports indicate the crop will be big this year. Peak of the harvesting operations will be reached next week unless rain interferes.

DESIGNER SEES PLASTIC PLANE RIVALING AUTO

Low Cost, Mass Production Believed Almost Certain Following War.

GREENFIELD, N. H.—(U.P.)—He says he can punch out an airplane—ready for installation or motor controls—in five minutes.

What's more, he says his plane will stand greater strains and handle better than any other aircraft on the market. And Harry Atwood ought to know. He isn't drawing regular royalty checks from nearly every major air line in the world for wool-gathering.

Thirty years ago Atwood, an engineer fresh from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology classrooms, made an unprecedented non-stop flight from New London, Conn., to Boston — approximately 90 miles.

It was an aeronautical sensation. Today he lives in a turreted house on a spur of the White Mountains and follows the bent of his creative mind in his laboratory.

Sandwiched in those years is a thrilling story of an experimental scientist and a life dedicated to aviation.

On the eve of this war, Atwood in his mountain retreat was experimenting with a formula for producing a superior type plastic wood. Out of his laboratory came a complete, easily carried, airplane wing of pressed wood. He dumped it into his empty swimming pool and left it there through a rigorous New England winter, through a rainy spring and a burning summer.

When Atwood lifted the wing out of the pool a year later it was as sound as the day he threw it in—not a sign of warping.

Visitors were invited to jump on the wing surface, to strike it with a sledge-hammer, and abuse it any way they saw fit. The wing withstood the most violent assault.

Then came the war. Military men sought planes and more planes. Workmen stood at their machines ready to roll out aircraft in mass volume. It was then Atwood flew to Washington with his blueprints.

He assured defense experts that, given tools and machines, he could stamp out standard pursuit trainer planes as fast as a toy factory rattles out tin soldiers.

Somehow Atwood was lost in the shuffle. Perhaps his plane, designed for pleasure flying, could not be adapted in a period of swiftly changing military design. Perhaps Atwood's idea was overlooked or dismissed as too experimental.

Then too there was one structural weakness. The Atwood plane can take more abuse than a metal plane of its size. But once damaged it can't be repaired. If a wingtip shears off, the entire moulded assemblage has to be scrapped.

But after the war is over and the day of the family plane arrives, Atwood's plane may become the "lumber-lizzie" of the air. The tall, spare inventor believes that his plane can be manufactured and marketed for about half the cost of the average automobile.

PLAN 500 HOMES

FWA Proposes $1,750,000 Housing Project For Dayton Workers.

DAYTON — (U.P.) — Representatives of the Federal Works Administration today pushed plans for erection of a $1,750,000 suburban housing project to provide homes for families of 500 Dayton defense workers.

The FHA yesterday approved a 14-acre tract on Shakertown road as the site of the project, which will be operated under a mutual ownership plan. Monthly payments on the homes will be around $25 and $30.

Much Of Russia's Wealth Lies In Her Great Cities

LENINGRAD formerly was Petrograd and before that St. Petersburg, capital of the Russian empire. One-third its former size, it still is the country's second city and an important trade center.

KIEV, size of Buffalo, N. Y., is Russia's third city, once ranked with London and Paris commercially. Its location on the Dnepr river, together with rail connections, makes it an industrial center.

ODESSA is a Black sea port situated 20 miles east of the border of Bessarabia, former Rumanian province. Seventh city in Russia, it has shipbuilding yards and airplane and munitions factories.

VILNA, its great cathedral shown in foreground, was acquired by Russia in the 1939 partition of Poland. Situated on the Lithuanian border, it is a rail center, conducts a wide timber and grain trade.

EVEN ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S WIFE HAD TROUBLE FINDING A HAT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(INS)—Like everyone else, presidents' wives have trouble in acquiring hats to suit them.

This was even true back in Civil war days.

A letter, probably never before published, written by Abraham Lincoln's wife, to her milliner has recently come into possession of the Illinois State Historical Library. It was a part of the famous John Gribbel collection. Although the letter bears only the date Dec. 11, State Historical Librarian Paul Angle states that it probably was written in the year 1864—not 1860.

In the letter, Mrs. Lincoln gave explicit directions for the making of the bonnet which she intended to wear to President Lincoln's second inauguration.

The letter follows:

"Dec. 11

"My Dear Madame:-

"Your last note has been received. I sent the velvet, which you will doubtless receive today. I did not wish any lace on the outside — therefore the bonnet must cost but $25.00 which is more than I had expected to pay for a bonnet—furnishing the velvet myself. The feather must be long and beautiful - lace trimmings very rich and full; the outside you can arrange to your taste.

"You can certainly procure black velvet ribbon of the shade of the velvet of the bonnet for strings—a finger length wide—very rich. I saw some in N. Y. when there. I do not think the edge inserted on the ribbon would look well. Queu pensez vous? It is a bonnet for grand occasions and I want it to be particularly stylish and rich. Very especially, black velvet is so expensive, do not fail to turn in the sides of the front more than an inch. Of course, it will some day have to undergo a new foundation. I am sure you will not fail me in this.

"Another favor I have to request—can you have my bonnet sent me express, on Monday next leaving N. Y. on that day and will you send down to Tiffany & Co. for a black velvet headdress which he had as a measure and enclose with the bonnet. Some of the narrow black velvet ribbon, which you sent as a sample, with white edge would look well—on one side of the front trimming. My strings must be one yard long each. Do have my bonnet got up in exquisite taste.

"Very sincerely your friend,
"Mary Lincoln."

GETS $100,000

Widow of Late Paul Block Left One-Third of His Estate.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A bequest of $100,000 and a life trust of one-third of the residuary estate were left by Paul Block, newspaper publisher who died June 22, to his widow, Mrs. Diana W. Block of Greenwich, Conn., according to a will filed for probate here.

Two sons, Paul, jr., and William, both of Toledo, were left the remaining two-thirds of the residue.

PREXY OUSTED

Wilberforce President Seeks 'Financial Settlement.'

XENIA—(AP)—Ousted from his post as president of Wilberforce university, Dr. D. Ormond Walker today declared he would "fight" for his $5,400 yearly salary which he claimed is due him three more years under a contract with the all-Negro institution.

Dr. Walker was dismissed yesterday at a special meeting of the university board of trustees and Bishop R. R. Wright, former president, was named acting president effective immediately.

The 16-member board announced no reason for the removal. Dr. Walker, however, claimed in a statement that "the slate" was responsible. "The state of Ohio," he said following the board's action, "has refused to grant further funds to Wilberforce except at the price of my removal."

"I shall hold the board to my contract for the next three years or until a financial settlement is made," he added.

County Has Record Marriage License Business In June

Richland county had a record marriage license business in June, topping the previous record by two licenses.

Seventy-four couples applied for licenses during the month. The previous high was 72 in June, 1929. Last year 65 applications were received by the county license bureau in June.

While Cupid was busy last month, the county divorce court was doing a near-record business too. There were 31 divorce actions started in June, only two less than the record of 33 set last October.

The booming marriage license business which began in March was attributed to the drafting of men for the army and improved business conditions. Selective service records show a number of men were married in May and June just before they left for army camps.

Fifty-one licenses were issued in March, 47 in April, and 68 in May to set a record for that month.

For the first half of the year 319 licenses were issued as compared to 139 divorce actions. Divorce suits also began showing an increase in March. Eighteen were filed that month, 23 in April, 28 in May, and 31 last month.

TOO SOPHISTICATED

PHILADELPHIA— (INS)—Modern boys are too sophisticated to repeat the schoolday stunts that delighted their fathers and tormented the instructors, according to Stanley R. Yarnall, principal of the Germantown Friends School for the last 33 years. No longer do the boys place pigeons in the assembly hall or throw water in paper bags from upstairs windows, he said.

DOCTORS WARN FOLKS WHO ARE CONSTIPATED—

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few. BUT DON'T WORRY—

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful! They not only gently yet thoroughly cleanse the bowels but ALSO assist liver bile flow to help digest fatty foods. Test their goodness TONIGHT without fail! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

Blind Man Confesses Killing Akron Girl

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking For Myself.

NOTHING is funnier on Broadway these evenings than listening to the Times Square generals master-minding the German - Russian situation. It takes a lot to make any aspect of any war humorous, but these lads, who don't know where next to do their wishful thinking, really accomplish it ....

Dorothy Kilgallen

I think the American at his laziest is the American in the theater audience. Four out of five won't get up to let you pass them going to your seat—so if you step on their shoes trying to make yourself smaller, I don't think they rate even a "so sorry" . . .

Nobody looks better in a Gibson Girl costume than Katharine Cornell . . . Silliest—and somehow gayest—sight in town these evenings is provided by the inebriated gents who stand up in taxicabs and poke their heads through the open-air roofs.

I'd like to see Bruce Cabot, Tommy Manville, Franchot Tone and Burgess Meredith all sitting at the same table, when a pretty girl passed by. Then I'd make a bet with myself on which head would turn fastest—and furthest . . . Wonder who cleans up after those confetti battles at Harvard?

A check-up with the leading model agencies shows that more than half of the famous beauties who model for magazine covers are married—and not to millionaires or glamor boys, but to average business-going males, whose names wouldn't mean a thing to a Broadway reader.

Which proves, I think, how sensible the beauties are.

For me, the best girl musical comedy dancer in the current stage is Nadine Gae of "Panama Hattie." She doesn't look or dance at all like the late Marilyn Miller, but she has the same, fresh, buoyant, spirit-like quality that makes you clap for an encore . . . I like J. Fred Coots' new song, "Under Your Window."

* * *

I find with surprise and pleasure that these days I am the most expensive sandwich on the menu at Reuben's. I do not know what kind of a sandwich I am—ham, pate de foie gras, or just plain bologna—and so far I have not had the temerity (or the $1.10) to order one. I note that a Milton Berle costs 85 cents, an Ethel Merman 75, an Eddie Duchin 65, a Louis Sohol 60, a Gertrude Lawrence 80, and a Tyrone Power one dollar even. Tyrone and I are the only two sandwiches for which Mr. Reuben has the nerve to charge a buck over; I guess we must come on toast.

Anyway, learning of this signal honor and being notified of my inclusion, in the next edition of Who's Who were the thrills of the week.

I still haven't found anyone who can explain the popularity of the "Hut Sut" song to me . . . I like miniature ships. Don't blame the president for collecting them. They're made for the desks of people with wanderlust . . .

I wonder what Will Bradley and all the other beat-me-daddy boys are going to do when their lyricists run out of daffy titles that fit into the boogie-woogie pattern. It'll be awful for them if they have to resort to tunes with simple titles like "I Love Ya, Babe," or "With the Sleet and the Fog in Your Throat" . . . Now that Tallulah Bankhead is out of town exercising her talents in the pasture theaters, I don't know a single local Giant fan who is both rabid and famous.

I'd love to be able to predict what the weather'll be an hour from now, but I don't know a rain cloud from a powder puff. Really accurate weather prognosticators astonish me.

It's a shame that all men can't have shoulders like life guards at Jones Beach, and all girls waistlines like Rita Hayworth.

I've always wanted to help a Boy Scout across a street.

I've never been able to think of a snappy answer to the Broadway theory, "What's cookin'," or the even older one, "What's new?" . . . I love the smell of popcorn, hate the smell of beer . . . It frightens me to see a window washer dangling outside a pane of glass 50 floors above the ground on the smooth gray side of the RCA building. Even when I'm sure he's perfectly safe, I don't like it...

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood is a lovely place . . .

There was the producer, not long ago, who decided he had hit the right formula for successful pictures. "Give me stories without plots," he said. "That will do it!"

Someone wanted to know how that would do it. "Humph," he exclaimed in triumph. "Look at 'The Road to Zanzibar' — no plot; look what it's doing!"

That must be the sequel to the one, about a decade ago, of the producer who heard about major and minor notes in music. Minor notes, he was told, were sad, wistful, somber. His face lit up. He wrote a memo. "Hereafter," he said, "we will have no more minor notes in our musical scores. Then all our pictures will be happy and audiences will like them."

THIS really happened, and recently: An executive walked on a set, saw a make-up man and a still photographer sitting down, and heard the actors laughing and talking. He protested. The director explained, "But nobody needs to be made up at the moment, and there are no still pictures to be shot."

"People wouldn't be sitting down in an automobile factory," was the retort.

It didn't end there. The order came through to cut out the levity and get down to serious work. No more laughing and talking. The actors plotted. For three days the set was morgue-like, smiles remained uncracked, everyone shushed everyone else.

Then the director, desperate, appealed to the front office to rescind the order. When many directors deliberately cultivate wisecracking and gaiety for better results, you can picture his plight. His scenes were dying in the camera!

Red Skelton, who laughs loudly at other people's jokes and at his own, is getting his reward—lead in "Whistling in the Dark." If he stays as irrepressible, he'll hit the comedy jackpot . . . "Snowball in Hell" is plotted for B. Hope and M. Carroll . . . Martha Raye will add to the confusion of "Hellzapoppin."

CONGRESS PUTS OKAY ON HUGE APPROPRIATION

Speeds Four-Billion Dollar Hand-Out To President For Signature.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Congressional clerks today speeded to the president for signature more than $4,000,000,000 in appropriations, the product of the last strenuous session of the old fiscal year which ended at midnight.

Weary members of the house of representatives cleared their desks and quit at 10:30 p. m. (EST), and the senate did not adjourn until 10:44. Team-work between the two houses, marred only by minor disputes, cleared not only the key spending bills but also legislation expanding and continuing the commodity credit corporation.

The day's work brought close to $40,000,000,000 the record-breaking total of congressional appropriations and spending authorizations voted thus far this session.

The principal measures dispatched to President Roosevelt during the lengthy day were:

The $910,905,000 relief bill; the $1,060,500,063 farm measure, including funds for "parity payments" to farmers; the $1,195,861,940 supply bill for the labor department and the security agency; the $1,030,000,000 deficiency bill, providing more than $400,000,000 for 2,236 new naval planes; the $54,183,106 supply bill for the District of Columbia and the $25,002,256 appropriation for the maintenance of congress itself.

Also approved was a measure continuing the Commodity Credit Corporation for two years from today and increasing its lending power from $1,400,000,000 to $2,650,000,000. The increase was necessary in part to provide for recently-authorized commodity loans at 85 per cent of parity prices.

There were few record votes in either chamber as leaders brought up one big money bill after another. The differences were largely over relatively trivial amendments, and the senate spent more time debating whether to grant the works progress administration an additional $485,000 for administrative costs than on any other item.

Gov. O'Daniel Pushes Past Johnson In Texas Election Fight.

DALLAS — (AP) — Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel took the lead today over Lyndon Johnson, New Deal congressman, in their neck-and neck race for the United States senatorship.

Laff-a-Day

"Six gum-drops and wrap them individually. They're for gifts!"

Plans to string dozens of Japanese lanterns throughout South park when the Children's theater stages "The Mikado," the last week in July presents a problem to the theater board from the standpoint of obtaining enough lanterns to make the scene effective. In the hope of obtaining lanterns which residents may have stored away the board has started a telephone campaign but trusts that any volunteers will take time to notify Mrs. L. A. Meisse, member of the board, or Harold McCuen, director.

Mansfield's "growing pains" are being measured by a nationally-known map publishing company. H. E. Randall, surveyor, has been walking up and down Mansfield streets for the past two weeks, looking at homes and making notes. Randall is a representative of the map company which informs insurance companies of the continual housing changes in leading cities. Randall estimates that at least 200 new homes have been built since last year. Also included in the new map will be the city's new water lines from Lexington to Weldon avenues and from Park avenue east to Wayne street.

First to be apprehended by police for violation of the city's anti-fireworks ordinance, two Rowland avenue youths were taken into custody by police last night. They were shooting firecrackers at Rowland and Fourth streets, police said. One was released after a reprimand but the other was ordered turned over to juvenile authorities when he became unruly, according to officers.

Mansfield firemen today heard the last of their three love-lorn pigeons, released a week ago after a rest here in their carrier flights. A letter from Londonville informed them that a pigeon had been found dead there, and "what do you want us to do about it?" Several heart-rending suggestions for suitable tombstone markings were advanced but none forwarded to Loudonville.

PICKED UP AT BUS TERMINAL IN MANHATTAN

Claims Alleged 'Wife' Robbed Him of $4,200 and Then Deserted Him.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — George Younes, 57-year-old blind man, arrested as he stepped off a bus at the Manhattan Greyhound terminal, early today confessed to police that he stabbed 22-year-old Patricia F. Patrick to death in an Akron, O., hotel room last Sunday.

Younes, who reportedly told police he stabbed the girl following an argument, said he did not know whether she was his wife or not. He explained she took him to a city hall to be married several months ago but that he now thinks it was a "hoax."

Police said that Younes, a paroled convict, said that the Patrick girl, who was said to be from Youngstown, O., had deserted him in a Rochester, N. Y. railroad station after a two-weeks honeymoon. She took with her approximately $4,200 which Younes said he had saved out of money sent to him at various times by relatives in Worcester, Mass.

Younes said he went to New York where he stayed in a Brooklyn room until last week when he received a message from his "wife" asking him to meet her in Akron. In an Akron hotel room, he said he became ill. Recovering later, he charged, he discovered his "wife" was gone again, and also $200 which he had had in his pocket.

She returned a short time later, he related, and they quarreled. He had a knife in his suitcase, he told police, and got it out and threatened her with it.

"She grappled with me, and we struggled, and in the struggle I cut my hand in two places," he said. "She fell on the bed, and I made two lunges at her."

Younes said he then hastily packed his bags and left the room. A bell-boy guided him out of the hotel, and he took a bus to Pittsburgh, and then came to New York. He will be taken to west side court later today for action pending extradition.

Police said that Younes was a paroled convict from Florida. He was sentenced to prison on June 22, 1933, for killing a woman, an innocent bystander, in a gun duel with another man. He went blind in prison in 1939.

Sharp Fingernails Cut Purse Strings, Suspect Declares

A pair of long, sharp fingernails were given credit today by Mansfield police for the deft picking of a Shelby woman's purse in a downtown store last week.

Although a bit dubious of her story, police said that Leila Simmons of North Franklin avenue, told them that she had used her nails to cut the cord connecting the change purse with a pocketbook owned by Mrs. Carrie Buskirk of Shelby and relieved her of $20.

She pleaded guilty to petit larceny yesterday in municipal court and was sentenced to 30 days in Richland county jail by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

Detectives Oscar Krupp and Lee Remy returned her from Youngstown where she was arrested by authorities on a Mansfield warrant.

STRICKEN AT 83

Mrs. Baughman Was Former Fredericktown Resident.

FREDERICKTKOWN — Thoebia Adeline Baughman, 83, died last night at the home of her nephew, Ernest Hopkins, in Mt. Vernon. She had been a resident of Fredericktown until three years ago when she moved to Mt. Vernon.

STORM BOUND

Highway Department Stymied When Doors Become Fouled.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—The Berrien county highway department got scores of calls for storm aid but was literally halted in its tracks.

The same storm that felled trees across highways also blew down power lines—the highway department's electrically-operated garage doors couldn't be opened.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Cherry was unable to speak. She felt her throat thicken; tears stung her eyes. The proud, stiff old voice went on.

"I would be very sorry to think that something I had ever done had hurt you," said Mrs. Marshbanks. "When something surprises you and—and distresses you, sometimes you act without thinking."

"I don't think it matters much now," Cherry said, with some difficulty. "It might have been unimportant. Nobody knew what was in that envelope."

"It was unfortunate. I suppose," the old woman said reluctantly and proudly, "That my boy inherited his disposition from me. He would not be crossed."

"I'm surprised that you say I'm like him then," Cherry said, with a half-smile, "for if ever a human being was crossed, I have been!"

"You are much stronger than your father," said Mrs. Marshbanks. The girl felt an odd sense of pride. It was something—even on this strange, terrible day—to have won the respect of her strange, alienated old grandmother.

"You can stand what would have broken him," Mrs Marshbanks presently added. "You know, I suppose, that Judson left you a little property in his will? What I have will be yours, too," she ent on, unemotionally. "It is not what you might have had, but it is something."

"Thank you," Cherry said simply. There was a tap at the door and she sprang to it, her heart hammering wildly. It was Kelly.

He looked tired, and was graver in manner than she had ever seen him.

"Fran and I are going out with these lads awhile," he said, without preamble. "I wanted you to know. See you later."

She caught at him, her eyes frightened. He smiled and was gone.

Mrs. Marshbanks and Cherry sat quietly, saying little. It was a relief to both when Greg came in.

"What's happened?" he inquired. "Martin looked like Boris Karloff when he let me in."

"Nothing's really happened; at least we don't believe it has," Cherry told him, choosing her words carefully. "But Fran went sort of crazy today and told them a long story about how she killed your father."

"What do you know about that!" Greg commented scornfully. "It's got on her nerves What'd they do?"

"Well, she and Kelly Coates went out with them — to police headquarters, I suppose."

"Coates, too?"

"She said it was on his account."

"Ha!" Greg ejaculated, more seriously. "I never knew there was anything going on there!"

"It was over anyway," the girl stated. "And he and I were going to be married," she added, after a pause.

"It sounded as if you said—you didn't say . . . " old Mrs. Marshbanks stopped in midsentence, looking keenly at the girl.

"Yes, we planned it only a few days ago," Cherry said dully.

"Fran knows it?"

"Nobody knows it."

"But if that's the case, how could she possibly have quarreled with Jud about him?

"That's one reason why I think she didn't."

"You mean you're to marry Kelly? The older woman still found it hard to believe.

"Some day," Cherry answered simply, looking away to hide her filling eyes.

"And how long has this been going on?"

"Ever since I first saw him — for me. He walked into my life," Cherry said, "and he's never walked out. And I don't care what they say or what they do," the girl went on, her look meeting that of Mrs. Marshbanks squarely, "he never will."

"Well," said the old lady dryly, "that complicates matters."

"I should think it would simplfy matters; I should think it would let Kelly out of it, at least," Greg said.

"I don't think anything any more," his grandmother stated wearily. "I guess I've lived long enough. So you got him away from Fran, did you?"

"That was all over. They hadn't see each other for months. But Fran suddenly got all worked up about it. She had letters from him that the police found."

"Those letters!" the older woman said scornfully.

"Letters that are months old. He told me that this morning. But they found them, and now—with her saying that she quarreled with the judge, and suddenly grabbed the revolver and fired it—I —I suppose they'll think they're important!" Cherry supplied

As Cherry was about to leave old Mrs Marshbanks, Amy and Count Gogo burst in Amy was laughing with excitement Her husband of a day beamed darkly in her wake

"Gran, darling," Amy said with her kiss, "we were going through town on our way to Del Monte and we got homesick, and so we're putting off our honeymoon, and we came home to see you! You kiss her, too, Gogo!"

Her grandmother was visibly startled, but she rallied enough to keep the surface unbroken, return Amy's kiss, accepted Gogo's salute of her hand. Amy explained that they had spent the night at a dude ranch near Reno, "where Gogo stayed at the time he was getting his last divorce," she added cheerfully.

Cherry informed the newcomers that Fran had been asked to go to police headquarters "to explain something," and that Fran had "sort of broken down" earlier in the day, and they were questioning her.

"But why? She doesn't know anything about it!" Amy exclaimed, aghast

"You kennot possibly know zat, de-ar," said the count.

These few minutes of explanation and welcome over, Amy glanced at her husband, who seemed a trifle hesitant. The old lady, quite aware that something was in the wind, looked from one to the other quickly.

"The thing is, Gran," Amy burst out, "that yesterday when I grabbed some things to go and meet Gogo there was some mail on the hall table, two or three letters for me, and I took them along. We didn't look at them until this morning and then I—we—Gogo felt—we both felt, that it might be important, and that we ought to talk to someone about it."

"If it is for Aimee's comforts, zen it is important to me," Gogo said impressively.

"You say it's business, Amy," old Mrs. Marshbanks said, with a level look at Gogo. "What sort of business?"

"It's from some lawyer, Gran," Amy explained. "Mr. George Comstock. He says that owing to the sudden death of his father, Judge Thomas Comstock, affairs in the office—I'll read it," Amy interrupted herself.

"'Affairs in the office have been in some inevitable confusion, owing to the recent sudden death of my father,'" she read aloud. "'My partner, Mr. Edward Brace, and I have been attempting to the best of our ability to straighten out his affairs. We now discover that a document deliverable to you on the occasion of your twenty-first birthday, November seventeenth of this year, has been overlooked, and is now eleven days overdue. The envelope, sealed, was deposited here at the request of your father, the late Frederick Archibald Marshbanks, at the time of his death. The accompanying instructions request that we also get in touch with Charlotte Rawlings, whose whereabouts we are now endeavoring to ascertain. Assuring you of our regret in the unavoidable delay . . . " Amy stopped short lowered the hand holding the letter looked blankly at her grandmother. "What on earth does it mean?" she demanded.

"Why, I don't know, dear," faltered the old lady.

"Aimee has tolt me of a story tolt by Cherie here," the count began anxiously. "Coos it haf anysing to do wiz zis?"

"If it is a duplicate of that paper Uncle Jud said he had had . . ." Amy added, again leaving her sentence unfinished.

"If it is to Aimee's interest, zen we must fight," the count put in.

"Cherry, did they write you?" Amy demanded.

"The Comstocks were great friends of your father," old Mrs. Marshbanks contributed. 'But I never heard . . ." She stopped short, shaking her head.

"It seem to me zat I should have known of zis, Aimee," said the count.

"Gogo, why should I tell you a lot of family rubbish that I didn't believe myself!" Amy answered sharply. "Up to now—up to the time I got this letter, there wasn't any proof of anything!"

"There may not be now, Amy." Even at this tense moment Cherry found it funny that she should be the one to console the other girl.

"Well, you can imagine how it makes me feel," Amy said in an injured voice.

"I am sure," the old woman began faintly "I am sure there isn't any truth in what Judson said! It put Amy in such a terrible position Oh, my child," Amy's grandmother said, in a burst of anguish, "why did you marry until this matter was settled? How could you rush off without telling us—without . . ."

"But you are not saying zat Aimee perhaps will be robt of all ze money her grandfazzer gave her?" the count put in, in a tone of stupefaction.

"No, she's not saying anything at all!" Cherry assured him boldly, her eyes aching in her head, her back icy. "There's no use worrying about this until we know. I haven't had any notice about it, and if it concerned me I think they'd have let me know. Don't worry, Amy."

There was a brief silence. The count moved to Amy and touched her on the shoulder.

"It will be very hardt, it will seem very strange to my frienz, my frienz zat I have promise to help," he said in an annoyed tone. "I tell zem to come and stay wiz me, I tell zem zat my horse—my house, all is for zem." His reproachful look swept the circle; he spread his hands open, appealing for sympathy.

"Your room is ready, Countess," May said, from the doorway. Cherry saw a little pleased look, a mollified expression, come into Amy's face. The title was impressive to them all.

"Yes, we will see zis Comstock tomorrow, and meanwhile, I will have a bass and a sleep," announced the count, following the maid from the room. Amy loitered for a last word.

"The first thing that Gogo said when we read this horrible letter," Amy said, looking first at her grandmother, then at Cherry, "was that it wouldn't be fair to me—it would put me in a false position for him to have married me thinking that I was—well, was rich and that I could help out all these people he has promised to help, and that he could pay up some bills. As if," Amy diverged suddenly with an attempt to speak scornfully that Cherry found infinitely pathetic, "as if money mattered! It was only — Gogo says it's only that he expected something different and made all these plans, and now of course he won't be able to carry them out.

"We'll know tomorrow," Cherry said, one hand over her aching eyes.

"He says, Gogo says, that it's a bad sign that they want to get in touch with you, Cherry," Amy observed, too deeply absorbed in her own troubles to consider the possible effect of such a remark upon Cherry. She trailed away disconsolately, and Cherry was left alone with her grandmother.

The old lady extended a hand to her, and as Cherry went to stand before her, grasping it, she drew the girl down so that Cherry's ear was close.

"She's destroyed her life!" the old woman said, in an electric whisper. "The money was all he wanted."

"Oh, maybe not," Cherry answered, but without conviction.

"Oh, why, why, why did she do it! Little fool—fool—fool!" She heard the only half-audible murmur.

Crossing the hall, Cherry could hear Gogo's voice speaking high and angrily in Amy's room; she heard nothing from Amy in reply.

With a heartisck pang of sympathy for Amy, Cherry turned away from her own doorway, and went downstairs. When she reached the lower hallway Fran and Kelly were just coming in.

THEATERS

Spanish Accent.

Depicting the story of a matador who is torn between the love of a beautiful wife and the allure of a temptress, "Blood and Sand," technicolor production of Vicente Blasco Ibanez' novel, showing at the Ohio, is a drama of contrasts. It pictures the grinding poverty of Gallardo, a reckless bullfighter before he became the most famous matador of Spain, and the wealth he achieved afterward. Hundreds of actors and thousands of extras were employed for the production that is headed by Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell, Rita Hayworth and Nazimova.

Air Spectacle.

Another air spectacle will sweep across the Madison screen beginning Wednesday when "Power Dive," featuring Richard Arlen, Roger Pryor and Jean Parker, will be shown. Telling the absorbing story behind the making of a new type of airplane, a geodetic plastic army trainer, the production is threaded with the romance of two men and a girl. Jane Withers blossoms from a tomboy into a romantic young lady in the companion attraction, "A Very Young Lady." Taking place at a fashionable finishing school the story concerns the girl's first romance. John Sutton and Richard Clayton play opposite the star.

London Mystery.

"Shadows On the Stairs," opening Wednesday at the Ritz concerns the adventures of a gang of international criminals who use an inconspicuous London boarding house as their hide-out. Frieda Inescort, the owner of the house, becomes involved when she tries to solve a series of mysterious events. Heather Angel and Bruce Lester furnish a romantic note and Paul Cavanaugh and Lumsden Hair are also in the cast. "Washington Melodrama" is the companion attraction.

Rural Comedy.

It is a far cry from school teacher to comic but "Scotty" Wiseman bridged the gap and is today one of the most popular entertainers in the field of rural lore. Co-starred with his wife, Lulubelle, he adds to the fun of "Country Fair," showing at the Park. Dealing with a political campaign in a hillbilly area the picture features Eddie Foy jr., June Clyde, Vass Family of "Alec Templet Time," and other radio and vaudeville entertainers. "The Lone W Takes a Chance," the second fil gives Warren Williams anoth chance to portray the noted sleu

Braves Meet Tiffin Mud Hens In Second Place Battle

Sport Podge by REX HESS

More over, Al Smith.

The Mansfield Braves are preparing to dispute your title of the "Happy Warrior."

The Laughing Tribesmen grin gleefully as they anticipate their next run-in with the boys in blue who wave their thumbs in the Ohio State league.

What? Are those umpires in here again? Well, I guess I just can't help it.

When Prexy Joe Donnelly of the O. S. circuit paid his Sunday visit to Mansfield he was informed by Prexy George Satterlee of the Braves:

"We have instructed all our players not to argue with the umps any more, just to laugh at 'em when they boot a decision."

* * *

When the umps says "Boys, obey me,,"
We retort: "Ha, ha, you slay me."

* * *

Joe got the first sample of this new light-hearted attitude of the Happy Warriors when he entered the ball park Sunday. The Warriors joined with the baritone section of the Findlay Oilers in singing a welcome for Joe: "Hey, Joe, whatcha know Joe?"

They'd all been reading the Sunday News-Journal. Some of the Oilers marched up and down in front of the Findlay dugout before the game waving copies of the paper and inviting one and all to read it.

Joe took it all good-naturedly enough, I'll say that for him.

Tiffin joined the clamor over the week-end over the belated suspension handed to the Hens' midget shortstop Kenny King, who drew a five-day vacation for a run-in with the arbiters on June 15.

Again the complaint was not over the fact that King had been suspended, but that the suspension came nearly two weeks after the cause.

Donnelly explained here the delay was caused by the fact that he was out of town at the time, and declared he acted as soon as he returned home.

I went out to Liberty Park,
And almost had to stay 'til dark.

"I expect," says Ken Woodman, "to see something in that column of yours about your swimming experience of last Saturday."

"You mean a command account?" I asked him.

"That's just what I mean," he retorted.

Well, it's an embarrassing yarn, folks, so if the women and small children will please leave the room——.

Such a hot day it was last Saturday that I hied myself home as fast as I could hie, retrieved my trunks from the cedar chest where they'd been stored nearly two years, and grabbed the earliest bus for Liberty pool.

The water was fine, the air was fine, the sun was fine, and for a time the trunks were fine, but if I'd stayed just a little bit longer I'd have been fined

* * *

So elderly the trunks were, that by the time I'd taken three or four dips they began to look like nothing else but a fugitive from a gun loaded with buckshot. Happily I retired without too much confusion.

WINS SECOND YUNCKER "BASS DERBY" PRIZE

A three and three quarters pound bass, caught by Marion Haas, 580 South Diamond street won Yuncker's Sports "Big Bass" derby last week. Haas took the fish on the north side of Charles Mill lake.

Haas took the second of the derby prizes one of which will be given for each of the next two weeks. At the end of the four week contest a grand prize will be given to the fisherman making the largest catch of the "derby."

BUDDY SCORES KAYO

Weak Spot Of Feller Discovered

It's Sportsman's Park By Mississippi Banks.

By BILL BONI
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

EVEN the greatest of men, they say, has his Achilles heel, first of all there was Achilles, the guy who had the heel. Then, there was Samson, a sucker for a barber's chair. Now there's Bob Feller, whose weak spot, it seems, is Sportsman's Park in St. Louis.

It's not the Browns who play there who bother him so much, it would appear, since Rapid Robert has beaten them twice in achieving his total of 16 victories. But those two triumphs came in Cleveland.

By the banks of the Mississippi the fabulous Feller also has pitched against the tail-enders in two games, and each time they have shipped him to the showers.

The way they did it yesterday was horrible to behold for all but a St. Louis fan, and there were only 1,408 of them in the stands. For six innings the Brownies let Feller and the Indians coast along on a 6-3 lead. Then, before Feller or the Tribe could recover, they exploded for nine runs and a 12-6 victory that was Feller's first defeat in four starts and make it three straight losses for Cleveland.

That dropped the Indians two full games behind the idle Yankees. The latter, returning to New York today, play a double-header with the Red Sox.

With the eastern half of the circuit taking a day off, the only other American League game yesterday saw the Chicago White Sox knock Schoolboy Rowe out of the box with two runs in the last of the ninth to trim the Detroit Tigers, 7-6.

Day and night proceedings in the National League left the St Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers tied for the lead.

The Dodgers, in the afternoon, won their 10th straight from the Phillies, 9-2, with Whitlow Wyatt getting his 12th triumph on a six-hit hurling effort that was marred by two homers.

The Cardinals, at night, were nosed out, 4-3, by the Pittsburgh Pirates as Maurice Van Robay's belted a two-run triple in the third inning that settled the issue.

The hard luck that has been dogging the Boston Braves' Manuel Salvo since he beat the Phillies on the second day of the season kept right on his heels. This time it was a fluke double by Johnny Rucker of the New York Giants—a hard grounder that bounced off Second-Baseman Carvel Rowell's head into centerfield—which drove in two of the three 12th inning runs with which the Terrymen won, 3-0. Cliff Melton pitched six-hit ball for the winners.

In another night encounter the Cincinnati Reds teed off on "old man" Charlie Root for five hits and five runs in the first inning and went on to rout the Chicago Cubs, 7-1.

Welter King Zivic To Meet Davis

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Professor Mike Jacobs is producing "the regeneration of Bummy Davis" at the Polo Grounds tonight, in 12 scenes, with Welter Champion Fritzie Zivic helping Bummy see the light.

It is in the nature of a homecoming for Bummy, his first appearance in a New York ring since the hectic night last November when he fouled Zivic Savagely about a dozen times and then tried to kick the referee, Billy Cavanaugh.

Junior Circuit Squad Picked

Feller, Heath, Keltner, and Boudreau Named.

By EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO—(AP)— A lineup in which a brilliant youthful pitching staff will be backed up by a crew of distance sluggers will represent the American League in the ninth annual all-star battle with the National Leaguers July 8 in Briggs' Stadium, Detroit.

The American League squad of 25, named by the eight circuit managers, was announced today by League President Will Harridge. On it are six players from the high-stepping New York Yankees; five from the Boston Red Sox; four from Cleveland; three each from Chicago and Detroit; two from Washington and one each from Philadelphia and St. Louis.

Del Baker of Detroit's American League champions, who will manage the junior circuit squad, may have trouble picking his starters for he'll have an abundance of stars for each position. Bob Feller of Cleveland likely will get the starting job on the hill on his 16 won, 4 lost record.

Should the 22-year-old Feller need help, Manager Baker will be able to signal the bull pen and get moundsmen with everything—youth, experience, ability. There'll be Charley Ruffing, at 37 the dean of the staff, and Thornton Lee, 33, waiting alongside such younger aces as Sid Hudson, Edgar Smith, Al Benton and Marius Russo.

This American League squad—each member of which will wear his home uniform inasmuch as the team this year is the "Home team"—will have the usual punch at the plat.

Two of its biggest guns will be Boston's lanky Ted Williams, who through June 29 held a .404 batting mark, and New York's Joe DiMaggio, who has been clipping along at record pace. In addition, there'll be such power clouters as Jeff Heath, Roy Cullenbine, Cecil Travis, Bill Dickey, Charley Keller, Joe Cronin and Rudy York.

No. 1 veteran on the squad will be Boston's Jimmy Foxx, who has been named to every all-star American League squad since the inaugural in 1933. For Joe DiMaggio, next week's game will be his sixth time at the spectacle, while his team mate, Dickey, will be showing up for the eighth time. Ken Keltner and Lou Boudreau of the Indians also are on the team.

Detroit's slender pitching star, Tommy Bridges, will not be on hand, nor will Buck Newsom, Emil Leonard, Monte Pearson and Al Milnar, all of whom were on the 1940 lineup.

The American League has won five of the eight contests played The National Leaguers won last year, 4 to 0.

Next week's game, given a break in the weather, may produce the third largest crowd in all-star history, for Briggs Stadium can accommodate about 57,000. The largest two crowds to see this battle were 69,812 at Cleveland in 1935 and 62, 892 at New York's Yankee Stadium in 1939.

As DiMaggio Breaks Sisler's Record

Here is Joltin' Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankees' center fielder, smacking out a single in the seventh inning of that important game with Washington in the capital, and with it breaking George Sisler's consecutive games streak of 41. DiMag's hit made it the 42nd straight game in which he has hit safely. Sisler set the former mark 19 years ago. Jake Early is the Washington catcher here.

Church League Plays Three

First Half Champs Edged By Congregational Club.

Church league sluggers matched blows in three tilts last night as the Congregationals stopped St. John's 1-0; the Lutherans bombarded St. Luke's 22-1, and the Baptist club beat St. Matthews 14-10.

It took the Congregational team two extra innings to subdue the first half champions, the winning and only marker coming on a homer by Scott in the first half of the ninth. The Congs were outhit five to seven Uhlich sparking the losers attack with two out of four.

Scoring 10 runs in the third, the Lutherans connected in every inning but the sixth as they deluged St. Lukes 22-0. The Herrick boys, Wineland and Stone led the attack.

Fourteen hits made 14 runs for the Baptist club as they outslugged St. Matthews. C. Condon got three out of four to lead the assault. Meerer, Longshore and Leanard led the loser batsmen.

Free Swimming Lessons Booked

Free swimming lessons for children, beginners and intermediate swimmers, will be given at Liberty Park pool on Monday and Wednesday mornings starting next Monday, Paul Snyder, pool manager, announced today.

Classes for beginners up to 14 years age are scheduled for the two mornings each week from 11 to 11:30 a. m., and for intermediate swimmers up to 16 from 11:30 to 12.

All children must sign for lessons at the cashier's office where they will be given slips to be signed by their parents giving them permission to take the lessons.

The pool now has free mornings for children every Tuesday and Friday when an average of 400 to 500 youngsters take advantage of the free admission. Eleven life guards are on duty for the protection of the big crowd of children.

There will be no free day on Friday this week, Snyder announced, because of the Fourth of July holiday.

TOLEDO — (AP) — A nine-race grand circuit program was scheduled at the Fort Miami oval today after rain washed out all but two heats of last night's eight-race opening card.

Isalys pushed across the winning marker in the last half of the eighth following a five-run rally in the seventh that knotted the score.

Dodgers Get Six On Team

Named To National Loop All-Star Combination.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers have been awarded six places on the 25-man National league squad for the All-Star game next Tuesday at Detroit, but it appeared today the Dodgers would have only five men ready for duty, for Catcher Mickey Owen was in Caledonian hospital with a six-stitch cut over his left eye.

Owen was hurt in the second inning of yesterday's contest with the Phillies, when he was hit by a ball pitched by John Podgajny.

Illness and injury already had taken two of the original nominees, chosen by Manager Bill McKechnie of the world champion Cincinnati Reds with aid of the other league pilots. Outfielder Joe Medwick of the Dodgers was picked to replace Hank Leiber of the Chicago Cubs, and First Baseman Frank McCormick of the Reds, the league's most valuable player in 1940, to supplant Dolph Camilli of the Dodgers.

Fifteen members of the winning 1940 team are on the roster. Mel Ott of the New York Giants and Billy Herman of the Dodgers have missed only once in the nine-year history of the game.

The four all-star "rookies" will be Brooklyn's Pete Reiser, Enos Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Elliott of Pittsburgh in the outfield, and veteran pitcher Claude Passeau of the Cubs.

Back of the Dodgers' six men come the Cardinals and Reds, four each; Chicago, Pittsburgh and New York, three each, and Philadelphia and Boston, one each.

The full roster of the National league squad:

Pitchers — Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer, Cincinanti; Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn; Lon Warneke, St. Louis; Carl Hubbell, New York; Cy Blanton, Philadelphia, and Passeau.

Catchers—Al Lopez, Pittsburgh; Harry Danning, New York, and Owen.

Infielders — Johnny Mize, St. Louis; Billy Herman and Harry Lavagetto, Brooklyn; McCormick and Linus Frey, Cincinnati; Stan Hack, Chicago; Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh, and Eddie Miller, Boston.

Outfielders — Reiser and Joe Medwick, Brooklyn: Slaughter and Terry Moore, St. Louis; Bill Nicholson, Chicago, Elliott and Ott.

Rain Halts Findlay Tilt With Tie Score

Mutryn Smacks Two Home Runs To End Slump; Mangan Powders Pill.

FOR the second straight game rain halted the festivities of the Mansfield Braves and Findlay Oilers last night at Findlay, and where the downpour of Sunday came in time to give the Braves a 2 to 1 victory, the stuff descended last night with the two clubs deadlocked at 4 to 4 at the end of the eighth.

Grover Hartley's hitters collected only four blows off Jim Coleman and Chuck Byers, but with Coleman dishing out nine walks they made those four hits, all singles, count for as much as Mansfield's 11.

There was some measure of consolation for the Braves however. Eddie Mutryn snapped out of his hitting slump to pole two home runs, and drive in three markers.

After Tim Mangan doubled in the first inning with two out, Eddie slammed a line drive over the left field wall for the Braves' first two runs.

Mangan got his second double in the sixth and counted on Harry Siegbert's double. Mutryn, leading off in the eighth, smacked another circuit clout, this one a high fly over the right field fence..

Meanwhile Findlay pecked away for a run in the third, another in the seventh, and tied the score with two in the eighth just before the game was called.

The Braves start their final bid for second place in the first half race of the Ohio State league tonight when they meet the Tiffin Mud Hens at the Fairgrounds in a ladies' night game.

Tiffin last night defeated Fostoria 10 to 7, and the Hens gained half a game on the Braves and are now two full games ahead of the Mansfield entry. Mansfield must win tonight and tomorrow night at Tiffin to tie for second place.

Chuck Byers had been slated to start on the hill for the Tribe tonight, but when he relieved Coleman last night it threw him off his regular slab turn.

Tiffin climbed within one game of the league leading Fremont Green Sox and still has a chance for the first-half pennant.

Lima defeated Fremont 12 to 6 to tighten the race.

Her injuries over a long period of years included three leg fractures with other fractures occurring in bones in her arms nose or collar bone.

GUIDES THIEVES

LAWTON, Okla.—(NS—Thieves who "borrowed" Tex R. Warkentin's car returned it to his front yard a few days later. Attached to the car was a newspaper's compass, apparently used to guide them back to Lawton after a 467 mile trip. There was a spoon rose in the back seat indicating that the gasoline for the journey, also was "borrowed."

SWINDLERS USE REFUGEE CLOAK

Mexican Prisoner Now Claims To Be Refugee Unable To Enter United States.

MEXICO, Mo.—(AP)—The "Mexican Prisoner"—that well-known gentleman who lends himself so well to the multitudinous disguises fitted for him by swindlers—is making his appearance in Missouri again.

But today, instead of terming himself a "Spaniard of high station imprisoned in this vile Mexican jail," the modern swindler is a wealthy refugee unable to enter the United States because he is an undesirable alien.

Here's how the swindle works:

The confidence man selects his victim carefully. He then writes a letter or letters, purportedly coming from the "prisoner" or "wealthy alien." Very carefully, he builds up the idea that he has a large store of cash hidden at some point in the United States. He needs help, he writes, to obtain the money and an emissary of his will soon call on the addressee to guide him to the hidden place of the fortune. The "bait" is the promise of "at least a third" of the money in return for the protection afforded by the victim's good name.

The payoff comes when the emissary—who is really the "Mexican prisoner"—calls on the victim. He proceeds to extract as much money as possible "for expenses."

Authorities here are following up several such letters received by Missourians. One of the missives signed by "R" said a suitcase containing $270,000 in currency was being held by U. S. Customs officials. The recipient of the letter was urged to watch for an emissary who would assist in paying duty on the baggage to obtain the money.

SLOW DEALING MARKS TRADES ON STOCK MART

Conflicting Claims In War News From Moscow and Berlin Prove Block.

NEW YORK — Stocks jogged along in varying directions today with most market leaders holding to a narrow range. Dealings were about as slow as yesterday and, near the second hour, the list continued to display mild irregularity.

Market stumbling blocks, brokers said, persisted in conflicting German-Russian war claims, the cloudy tax picture and growing federal industrial restrictions.

Boardrooms derived some satisfaction from the federal reserve summary disclosing commercial, industrial and agricultural loans of member banks in 101 cities for the week ended June 25 increased $33,000,000.

Among bolstering items for railway securities was the compilation showing Class 1 roads earned $342,702,129, before interest and rentals, in the first five months of 1941. This compared with $197,432,327 in the comparable period last year.

'Painless' Plan To Finance National Defense Proposed.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(U.P.)—A "painless" method of financing the national defense program through weekly deduction of 25 cents from each worker's pay envelope is proposed by Mrs. Dorothy Marsh Baker, Indian research agent at the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences.

Mrs. Baker who asserts she "can't lose sight of the crisis facing the world," developed her plan during one lunch hour. And in other lunch hours she wrote to President Roosevelt and 96 United States senators telling them about it.

"It's so simple, I can't understand why no one else has broached it," she said. "Among other things the money could buy warships, planes, medicine or clothing. Anything that's needed."

Mrs. Baker would have the president appoint a commission of army and naval officers, leading business men and economists who could disburse the monthly funds pouring in from factory and office payrolls.

"The American people realize that the very bulwarks of civilization are threatened," she declared. "Thousands, I believe, will gladly pay their share to the government. Some might contribute more, depending on their income."

The armament purchases, she believes, would stimulate business and in turn increase factory payrolls so that no one would miss the 25 cents contributed weekly.

As an example, Mrs. Baker explains that under the plan Rochester employes of the Eastman Kodak company would alone contribute approximately $200,000 monthly.

She already has the support of the Monroe County Speakers Forum of 125 members. The forum's president, Louis Gesinger, plans to introduce the scheme to local organizations and industrialists.
